H. E. Studer Takes Over As Mayor

Flowers to Studer
And Alderman Moore
And Gifts to Retiring
Mayor J. H. Bagby

Meeting in regular session Monday night, the City Council which has been active for the past year, some of them having served for much longer than that, transacted all unfinished and new business to come up and adjourned sine die. The retiring mayor, Julian H. Bagby, Democrat, who was not a candidate for re-election, thanked his alderman for the cooperation he had been given and presented the incoming mayor, Herb E. Studer, aged 32, Republican, who had been a member of the council, serving from the fourth ward.

Presented With Gifts
Prior to Mayor Bagby's leaving the chair, Councilman Earl Lashley presented him with a gold belt buckle and cuff links, a gift of the seven Democratic aldermen and a radio, the card reading, "From a few friends who think you have done a wonderful job." Emmet Sullivan, Democratic city and county chairman, then presented him with two pieces of luggage, both gentlemen expressing their highest regard for the outgoing mayor and for the accomplishments during his four-year term expiring.

Flowers To Newly Elected
Two bouquets of flowers were presented to the incoming mayor, one from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Studer, the other from the Republican Women's club. Harry Moore, incoming alderman for the first ward, received a bouquet from the Carpenters' Local, 1772, of which he has been a member 33 years.

In addition to Mayor Studer, four newly elected aldermen took office. They were: Harry Moore, first ward, introduced by his predecessor, Virgil Corson; Elmer Summers, who succeeds himself, presented by Walter Smethers; Earl Lashley, also succeeding himself, presented by Emory L. Ellsworth and Jim Reed, newly elected, introduced by Studer, whom he succeeded. All aldermen are Democrats.

Financial Report
Summers, who has served as chairman of the financial committee, made the following report: "To the Mayor and City Council of the City of Sedalia, Mo. Gentlemen:

"I wish to report the balances of the various bank accounts of the City of Sedalia, as of April 15th, 1950:

"General Account $ 25,099.74
"Bond Account 364,087.96
"Funded Account 49,849.85
"Total of $439,037.55

"Respectfully submitted by: Elmer C. Summers, chairman, Committee on finance and taxes."

By a vote of 6 to 2 the property on West Broadway, on the south side of the street, next to the southeast corner of State Fair boulevard and Broadway, was rezoned for business purposes. It is owned by Dr. L. S. Geiger and the purpose of rezoning is that it may be sold to R. M. Dillon, for a wholesale and retail bakery. The ordinance had been tabled early in March, and it was unanimously voted to remove it from the table.

Studer asked the report of the zoning board be read. It had rejected an application for rezoning. When the matter was voted on as to rezoning Studer and Smethers voted no.

$10,000 To Airport Fund
The salary of the chief of police was raised from $3,180 to $3,600 and the city collector from $2,100 to $2,700.

An ordinance was passed appropriating $10,000 toward the new municipal airport fund, for which state and federal aid will be asked.

Reno Johnson asked for a license to sell package liquor at 109 West Fifth street. It was placed on file.

Earl Lashley presented a petition from property owners, asking for a sewer district between Madison and Merriam and Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets.

Cancelled coupons for paid off indebtedness and interest were burned.

Mr. Studer, the incoming mayor, on receiving the gavel from Mayor Bagby made his preliminary remarks, appearing elsewhere in this paper. He then asked if anyone had anything to present before the Council and when no one did he declared a motion to adjourn would be in order, which followed and was adopted.

New Mayor in Office at An Early Hour

Mrs. Frank Evans
On Job Today
As Secretary

The new mayor of Sedalia, Herb E. Studer, the only Republican to hold a present city elective office in Sedalia, took over the reins of the city government today.

Mayor Studer was at the office early this morning, getting the "feel" of a mayor's duties. He said he planned to spend the remainder of the week at the city hall in the morning and afternoon for the purpose of getting better acquainted with the duties of mayor.

Effective Monday, the 32-year-old mayor, said the office hours for the mayor would be about the same as those of the outgoing mayor, Julian H. Bagby, from 1:00 o'clock until 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon. On Saturdays, the mayor's office will be open in the mornings between the hours of 10:00 a.m. until noon.

Continue Real Estate Business
Mayor Studer said he would continue to operate his real estate business at 415 South Lamine avenue.

About the only change thus far as a result of a Republican mayor now ruling the affairs of the city is a secretary in the mayor's office. Mrs. Frank Evans, 916 South Vermont avenue, who was formerly employed as a stenographer at the Sedalia Water Company, she has taken over the duties formerly held by Mrs. Joseph S. Quinn, under Mayor Julian H. Bagby's administration.

Mayor Studer said appointments for city jobs will be made at a later date, after they have been discussed with the members of the city council.

Mayor Studer Pledges Every Endeavor For Greater Sedalia

Herb E. Studer, Republican, took over as mayor of Sedalia Monday night, and attending the Council meeting, at which he presided for the first time were his wife, two of his three children, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Studer, and his grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Smith, of Kansas City, Mrs. L. L. Studer's mother.

In accepting the gavel from Julian H. Bagby, Democrat, and retiring mayor, Mayor Studer said:

"Members of the Council, ladies and gentlemen:
"Having taken the oath of the office of mayor of the city of Sedalia, it now becomes my duty to perform the functions of that office. I am indeed grateful for this opportunity of serving the people of Sedalia in this capacity. It is with a deep sense of humility and with an overwhelming desire to render service to my home town that I enter upon the duties of this office.

Stress On Cooperation
"In a city such as ours, the obligation for a successful city government rests upon the mayor and upon the members of the council. I am sure that each of you feel as I do about the responsibilities and opportunities which we have of doing a great service to our city. The law requires certain functions of the city government to be performed by the mayor and others to be performed by the council. It is only through a spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding that we can achieve good government. The fact that we may bear different political labels should not hinder nor detract from our working together. "I want to assure you gentlemen that it is my sincere desire to work with you in every way possible to achieve a sound constructive program for the benefit and betterment of the city of Sedalia.

Problem On Appointments
"One of our first problems will be the appointment of about one hundred city employees, who will assist us in carrying out the duties of city government. The work of a few of these employees is directly connected with the administrative department of the government and they are directly responsible to the mayor. I will expect to determine who these employees shall be. About eighty-five or ninety of these one hundred employees are as much responsible to the members of the council as they are to the mayor, for that reason I will ask you to suggest the individuals that you wish appointed in these various capacities. Let us remember always in the selection of city employees that our chief concern should be the qualifications of the individual.
"As we gather here tonight, let us remember that as we complete this year and the years to follow that Sedalia is much bigger than any individual or political party. "I hope that we may work in unity and with God's blessings we will do our job well."

COUNCIL Sidelights

For twenty-five minutes of the one-hour session, council and citizens in the packed chamber breathed smoke-fumes from $77,730 of burning clogged sewer and swimming pool bonds and coupons.

A metal waste basket was utilized as a receptacle for the bond-fire. Councilmen Elmer Summers, and Emory Ellsworth, and Pete Menefee kept the bond fires burning. The ceremony started at 7:55 p.m. Density of the smoke necessitated raising of windows. When it appeared conclusion of the fire ceremonial could not be hastened, council went back to transacting business on one hand and rubbing eyes with the other. Councilman Vanderkamp raised a window for more air, closed it again later against a chilly draft, then decided to raise it again as the better choice between catching cold, or smothering.

At 8:20 Councilman Menefee left the chamber and brought back with him janitor Archie Booker, who with rag-protected hands lifted the hot wastebasket with the smoldering residue, carrying it out of the council chamber.

Querulous citizens learned that the ceremony of burning bonds must occur in open council session.

Among the visitors was former councilman Dick Keenan, a ready speaker on almost any occasion. When asked why he didn't make a speech when the audience was asked for remarks, he replied he came down to relax as one out of circulation politically. But he had one expository observation about burning of the bonds. He said when he was on council he had suggested many times that there ought to be a metal receptacle with a small stove pipe attached which could be stuck out a window so smoke would not fill the council chamber. Since there will be a lot more bond fires on the council agenda, Dick still thinks his idea has merit.

City Democratic Chairman Emmett Sullivan made a gift presentation speech to retiring Mayor Bagby. There was a slip in the drama cue. While Sullivan was speaking, Archie Booker entered the council arena interposing himself between Sullivan and Bagby to place on the desk of Mayor-elect Studer a bouquet of roses from the Republican Women's organization.

The Studer family was present in force. Mary, wife of the mayor, was there with two of her children. "I wanted them to see their daddy inaugurated," she said beaming smiles. Father and Mother L. L. Studer of West Third street, and neighbor Mrs. William Schrader were there; and others across the street.

Mayor Studer's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Smith, of Kansas City, remarked, "I had to come down for the ceremony; I just couldn't miss it. I'm a Democrat, too. Why, when Herb's father was elected mayor out in Osawatomie, Kansas, years ago, I stayed home and bounced Herb on my lap."

Father Studer admired for the first time, the elegantly furnished office provided for Sedalia's mayors. "That's a better set up than I've got out at the Missouri Pacific shops," he remarked, wistfully.

Carrying Target Guns Results in Police Alarm
PASADENA, Calif., April 18—(AP)—An excited caller told police two armed men were "casing" a bank.

A few minutes later officer Joseph Nichols arrested two men near the bank with guns in their hands. But they weren't desperadoes.

They were enroute to a pistol range for target practice. "We were carrying our guns in plain view," they said, "because it is illegal to carry concealed weapons."

Blast Rocks St. Louis Cafeteria

ST. LOUIS, April 18—(AP)—Miss Hulling's cafeteria, one of the largest eating places in St. Louis, was rocked by a bomb explosion late last night.

Twenty-two cafeteria employees were working in the rear of the building, near the scene of the blast, but none was hurt. The cafeteria, which has been picketed by an AFL union since last fall, was closed at the time.

Police were questioning five union officials this morning. The bomb exploded in an alley at the rear of the five-story brick building, wrecking a double door to the cafeteria and shattering windows in the cafeteria and nearby buildings.

The blast, heard as far as a mile away, attracted more than 200 persons from nearby taverns and hotels in the heart of downtown St. Louis.

Police were told that two men were seen near the rear of the building just before the explosion.

Four different unions have tried unsuccessfully to organize employees of the cafeteria, which has a profit-sharing plan for its employees.

Death of Shull Believed Due To Injuries

Reported to Police He Had Been Beaten Up by Some Men

Andrew Franklin Shull, 41 years old, of route 1, Sedalia, died at the Bothwell hospital at 1:05 o'clock this morning.

Shull is believed to have died of injuries received last Saturday night. It was reported by Shull at police headquarters, that night he had been in a fight at the Rock Inn, on north Highway 65 near Bothwell lodge, however, he did not complain at that time of his injuries, other than he had been beaten up by four or five men.

Monday, a man giving his name as C. R. Ackerman of Smithton, complained to Prosecuting Attorney William F. Brown that he had an altercation with Shull and signed an information for a warrant against Shull. Procedure on the information was held up by Mr. Brown pending the outcome of Shull's condition.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, coroner, will conduct an autopsy this afternoon to determine the exact cause of death, and indicated he would also hold an inquest.

Born in County
Shull was born in Pettis county near Green Ridge, July 8, 1908, the son of the late Henry and Annie Carpenter Shull.

He has lived all of his life in Pettis county.

He was married at LaMonte, December 2, 1930 to Miss Mabel Hall, who survives.

He was inducted in the Army March 7, 1944, and was stationed at Camp Hood, Texas, until October 13, 1944, when he was honorably discharged.

Survivors
Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Andrew Franklin Shull, Jr., 17, and Margaret Fern Shull, 13; three brothers, Robert Shull, Sedalia, Charles Shull, Green Ridge, William Shull, Marshall; four sisters, Mrs. Albert Smith, Kansas City, Mrs. Susie Zeigler, Mrs. O. W. DeLapp, Sedalia, Mrs. John Zimmerman, Marshall; two half-brothers, Ben Shull and Lemuel Shull of Sedalia.

The body is at the Ewing funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

A New Trial For a Sweetheart Murderer

PHILADELPHIA, April 18—(AP)—A 26-year-old native laborer sentenced to death for slaying his sweetheart has been granted a new trial by three federal circuit judges who went to the Virgin Islands to grant him a hearing.

The three jurists—Albert B. Maris, Harry E. Kalodner and Calvin Magruder—yesterday set aside the death sentence pronounced on Leander Price. The Virgin Islands are under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Third Circuit Court.

Price was convicted on a murder charge in the slaying of 21-year-old Laurissa Peterson at Christianton on Jan. 7 because he feared she was planning to leave him for another man.

The court opinion held the evidence did not establish beyond a reasonable doubt that the slaying was a "deliberate and premeditated murder."

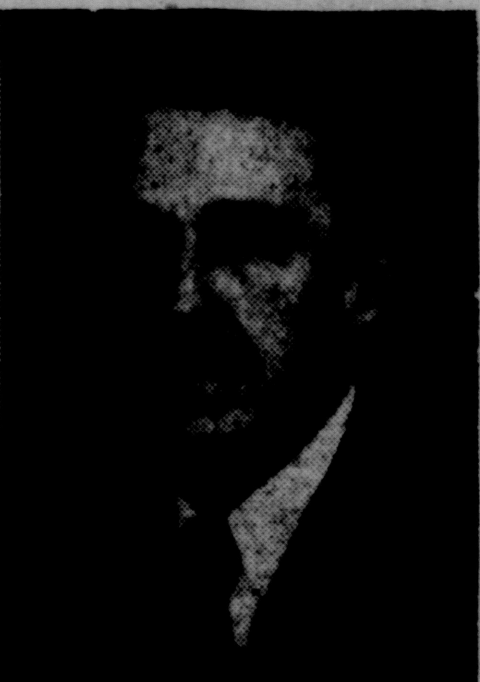

Thirty-Sixth Child for 70-Year-Old Bricklayer
AMIENS, France, April 18—(AP)—Paul Demaie, 70, a bricklayer last night announced the birth of his 36th child.

Demais's first wife died in 1927 after giving birth to 24 children. He married again in 1935.

Changes by Bell Telephone Company

Idea is to Help Service to The Missouri Users

In order to provide more complete supervision over all Southwestern Bell Telephone company activities throughout Missouri with expected resultant benefits in service to telephone users, it was announced today that Harold R. Towles, who has been assistant vice president, has been appointed general manager, with full responsibility for operations for the state of Missouri and headquarters in St. Louis.

Harold R. Towles

The change, which is effective immediately, was announced by President James L. Crump and is in line with a trend toward decentralization of management within the Southwestern system.

Some Changes
In conformance with the move, these additional changes were announced:

E. N. Widen, who has been general commercial manager for the company, succeeds Warren S. Miller as secretary-treasurer. M. L. Peary, general manager in St. Louis, becomes commercial operations engineer on the staff of operations vice president Edwin L. Clark. J. R. Peterson, general traffic manager for the company and H. R. Fritz, chief engineer, become assistant vice presidents, reporting to Mr. Clark.

Warren S. Miller becomes general commercial manager for Missouri; R. A. Burnett, traffic superintendent, St. Louis, becomes general traffic manager for Missouri; J. F. Seibert, plant superintendent, St. Louis, becomes general plant manager for Missouri; and G. J. Vande Steeg, engineer, St. Louis, becomes chief engineer for Missouri.

To Keep up With Growth
The reorganization, company officials say, is in recognition of the continued growth of Missouri and the increasing importance it has assumed both to the nation and in the operation of the Southwestern Bell company. The state's population is estimated now at more than 4,000,000, an all-time high, and there is increasing industrialization as well as continued agricultural development.

Increased responsibility of the telephone company arising out of the state's growth is evident in the expansion which the company has had to undertake to meet telephone needs. Since 1940, the company has almost doubled its plant investment in Missouri, the increase amounting to $83,000,000, or 75 per cent. The number of telephones in service has been increased by more than 375,000 over 1940 and the company now serves 852,000 in the state. The number of employees required in Missouri to handle the increased volume of business totaled 12,000 at the end of the year, an increase of 5,200 over 1940, or 78 per cent.

Requirements Not Yet Met
The state's requirements for telephone service have not been fully met, despite the huge expansion.

Recommendation On Sewer System

Minimum requirements recommended by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company for satisfactory operation of sewerage system, as read to the Council Monday night by John Vandekamp fourth ward alderman:

A sanitary engineer who will be in charge of entire sewerage system—sewers, plants, and storm water ditches.

Each plant should have a day-time operator for each day of the week. It would be advisable to have a telephone at each plant, also the sanitary engineer and each operator to have one in their homes as they will be subject to call at all times.

Maintenance crews of at least two men and one truck—minimum requirements, for operation of sewerage system.

The state board of health is willing to give advice and help at all times. If a training school is provided by the state board of health, one or two men should take advantage of this training.

Landscaping.
It is a large investment, and important to have entire sewerage system in perfect operation.

MPSC Plans $2,500,000 Program

Includes New Power Line to Sedalia From Warrensburg

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18—(AP)—Missouri Public Service company is planning a $2,500,000 construction program throughout its western and north central Missouri operating area.

The company asked state public service commission authorization today to issue 20,000 shares of 4% percent preferred stock with a par value of $100 share.

In a companion application the PSC was asked to permit the company to become 100 percent Missouri-owned.

Now the company, with central offices at Warrensburg, is owned by the Missouri Public Service Corporation, a Delaware company. By the proposal today, however, the corporation would merge with the Warrensburg company, eliminating its present foreign identity. The utility plans to make these improvements and extensions if state approval is granted:

1. A new gas transmission line from Warrensburg to Clinton at an estimated cost of $472,000.

2. Rehabilitation of the Clinton gas distribution system, $80,000.

3. A new $467,000 gas transmission line from Carrollton to Chillicothe.

4. Rehabilitation of the distribution system in Chillicothe at a cost of $160,000.

5. A $329,000 gas line from Chillicothe to Trenton.

6. Rehabilitation of the Trenton gas system, $105,000.

7. A 300,000 gallon elevated water storage tank at Nevada at an estimated cost of $75,000.

8. A 69,000 volt power line from Warrensburg to Sedalia at a cost of $310,000.

9. General repairs and extensions to electric power lines during the rest of this year at an estimated cost of $450,000.

New York's "Street Minute Men Fighting a Two-Front War"
NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—New York's Irish minutemen are now fighting a two-front war against the British.

For the last two weeks they have been picketing Sir Basil Brooke, visiting Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, demanding that the British get out of Ulster.

But Sir Basil's picket line was much smaller last night. The pickets explained:

"We divided up. The others are over picketing the British auto show."

Refused Claim
The note flatly rejected Russia's claim that the American plane flew over Russian territory in violation of international law.

It charged the Soviets with a "violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations."

The 600-word counterprotest said the American investigation determined that the U. S. plane involved was the navy four-engine privateer patrol craft which has been missing in the Baltic area since April 8.

All American aircraft operate under strict instructions to avoid flying over any foreign territory, except with express permission, the note said.

It added that the U. S. investigation convinced this government that the navy plane did not fly over "any Soviet or Soviet occupied territory or territorial waters adjacent thereto."

In view of the findings, the note said "it must be concluded that Soviet military aircraft fired upon an unarmed American plane over the open sea following which the American airplane was lost."

Russian Fighters Charged

With Shooting Down An American Plane Over Baltic Sea; Formal Note Sent

By Edward E. Bomar

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The United States formally charged today that Russian fighters shot down an unarmed American plane over the open Baltic sea.

In a note to Russia warning against any repetition "under whatever pretext," the American government demanded an apology, punishment of the Red aviators and "appropriate indemnity" for the loss of the plane and the 10 Americans aboard it.

The plane in question is the navy plane which has been missing in the Baltic area since April 8.

The United States said its destruction in violation "of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations" is the truth behind Moscow's story last week of an American-Soviet plane crash over Latvia.

No Survivors
No survivors of the navy patrol plane have been found. A life raft, believed to have come from it, was picked up. The pockets of the raft had been opened—a possible indication that someone was aboard it after it was in the water.

The note to Moscow was couched in the customary diplomatic language. But a statement made by a State Department spokesman simultaneously with publication of the note hit at Russia's conduct in the most vigorous kind of language.

Michael McDermott, press officer, lashed at Moscow's lack of concern over the fate of the plane, at its "aggressive tone" and at its "false propaganda claims and diatribes." He added:

"This attitude of the Soviet government shows clearly the insincerity of its oft-proclaimed desire for peaceful relations with the United States and the non-Soviet world in general."

No Hint of Amount
There was no official hint as to what indemnity the United States might consider to be proper payment for the loss of the plane.

But in a case with some similar aspects Yugoslavia paid $150,000 indemnity for shooting down five American fliers in 1946.

The American note was a formal reply to Russia's protest of April 11 that an American plane had flown over Latvia and exchanged gunfire with Soviet aircraft on April 8.

The American note, delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, demanded also that "the most strict and categorical instructions" be issued to the Soviet air force to prevent any new incident "so clearly calculated to magnify the difficulties of maintaining peaceful and correct international relationship."

Refused Claim
The note flatly rejected Russia's claim that the American plane flew over Russian territory in violation of international law.

It charged the Soviets with a "violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations."

Loyalty Board Found Legal

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—U. S. Court of Appeals Monday reaffirmed its ruling that government loyalty board procedures are constitutional.

At the same time, in a 2-1 decision, it rejects claims by 26 post office department employees that they were victims of racial and religious discriminations and of decisions, based "solely" on guilt by association. The group includes 12 Negroes and eight Jews from Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, New York City and Plainfield, N. J.

The 26 brought a civil suit in district court here after receiving

Ill From Monoxide Fumes
ST. LOUIS, April 18—(P)—Seven persons, including three children driving from Naylor, Mo., to St. Louis became ill from carbon monoxide fumes, police reported Monday.

The seven, all from St. Louis, were found in the automobile parked near the home of one of the passengers, Frank Gallina.

A defective exhaust caused the carbon monoxide to leak into the vehicle. Naylor is in Ripley county near the Missouri-Kansas border.

Social Events

A picture of Miss Shirley Rose Thomas, whose engagement to Mr. Bob Livingston, has been announced, appeared in the society section of the Sunday Kansas City Star. Miss Thomas is the daughter of Mrs. Vivian Satterwhite Thomas, a former Sedalia, and is a granddaughter of Mrs. H. G. Satterwhite, 1109 West Second street.

The marriage of Miss Thomas and Mr. Livingston will take place on April 24 at the Ivanhoe Christian church in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Emmert, of Kent, Conn., former Sedalians, who are here for a visit, have been honored with several dinner parties and luncheons since their arrival Saturday.

On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Johns and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Messerly had a dinner party for them at their home, 705 West Broadway and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cloney, 509 West Broadway, entertained with a dinner party for them on Sunday night.

Monday noon a luncheon was given by Mrs. Frank Monroe at the Heard Memorial club house with guests being close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Emmert, and Monday night Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keyser entertained with a dinner at Bothwell lodge.

This evening a family dinner will be given for Mr. and Mrs. Emmert at the Sedalia Country Club by Mrs. J. A. Lamy and Dr. and Mrs. John E. Lamy and Wednesday night a dinner will be given by Mr. and Mrs. John G. Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Van Dyne at the Van Dyne country home.

The Emmerts will leave Thursday for their home in the east.

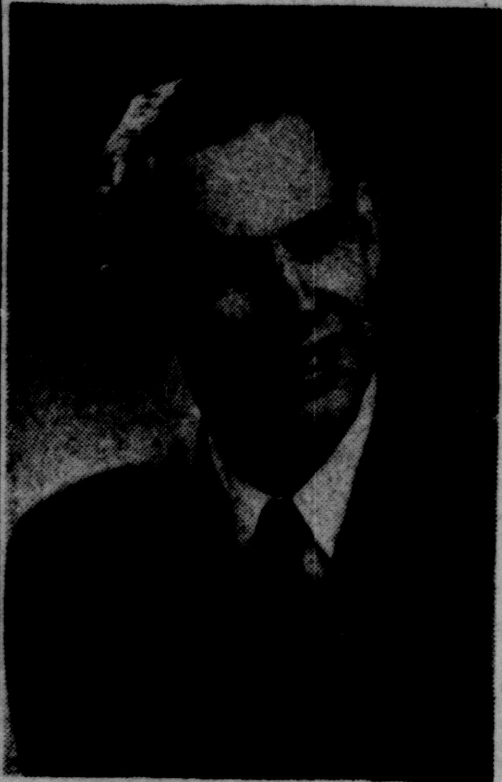

CHURCH NEWS

The Women's Association of the Broadway Presbyterian church will meet at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon as follows: Group 1 with Mrs. George Curnutt, 312 South Sneed avenue; group 2 with Mrs. Rolla Wyatt, 123 State Fair boulevard; group 3 with Mrs. L. S. Geiger, 912 South Prospect

Carroll Heads Pimbley Store

John E. Carroll has been promoted to manager of Pimbley Paint and Glass Co., Sedalia store, R. J. Wilson, president has announced.

John E. Carroll

Mr. Carroll has been associated as a salesman with Pimbley Paint and Glass Co., since March 1947, and will assume his new duties immediately, Wilson said.

After attending high school at LaMonte, Carroll entered Missouri Valley college at Marshall. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps as a Private in 1942, participated in four major European campaigns as transport pilot, being discharged in 1946 as a captain. As a pilot Carroll towed gliders, dropped paratroopers, supplies and aided in air evacuation.

Mr. Carroll is married, has one son. They reside at 1815 South Barrett avenue in this city. He also owns and operates a farm south of LaMonte, where he raises pure bred Angus cattle.

"Assistant Postmaster."

More Correspondence
The postmaster in turn wrote the following correspondence to the Sedalia postmaster, dated March 11, 1950:

"Enclosed you will find a letter addressed to Mr. and Mrs. James Fear, Okmulgee, Okla., which bears the postmark of the Muskogee office under date of December 20, 1927, together with a letter of explanation which came to us with this piece of mail.

"Mrs. F. W. Puckett, 2323 East Thirtieth street, Tulsa, Okla., advises that Mr. and Mrs. Fear now live at 510 East Eleventh street in your city, so perhaps you can make delivery of this letter. Better late than never, I've always heard. We'll see!

"Sincerely Yours,
"H. B. Toskett,
"Postmaster."

Finally Delivered
The Christmas card, together with all the above correspondence was delivered to the Fear's home by post-carrier, William C. Faulkner on March 13. Faulkner was quoted as saying when he handed the correspondence to Mrs. Fear: "The postmaster wanted to know if you had lost confidence in the U. S. Postoffice."

Mrs. Fear said prior to receiving the ancient letter, Mrs. Puckett wrote her and told her she would receive an old letter. Mrs. Fear said, "She was just dying to know who it was from."

Mrs. Fear said she received a newspaper clippings from Mr. Fear's brother, W. H. Fear in Ventura, Calif., the Fear's son. James B. Fear, and her father, B. F. Pollock, and countless friends, after she had already received the correspondence, telling her they had seen the news item in various papers.

The Fears came to Sedalia in the fall of 1948 from Abilene, Kas. Mr. Fear is manager of the Montgomery and Ward farm store in Sedalia.

Former Missourian Killed in West Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 18—(P).—A former Missourian Dr. Paul L. Douglas, was shot and killed near here yesterday while waiting in his car for a ferry to cross the Monongahela river.

A 46-year-old coal miner, Vincenzo Stefanizzi, was arrested by police and booked on a murder charge in connection with the slaying.

Dr. Douglas, 30, was born on a farm near Rockport, Mo., in Atchison county. He was graduated from William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo.; the University of Missouri and Washington University Medical school in St. Louis.

He is survived by his widow; a son; his father, D. E. Douglas of Liberty; three brothers, Carl L. of Liberty, Raymond of Van Nuys, Calif., and Donald of Watson, Mo., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson of Edina, Mo.

Dr. Douglas was a physician for the Christopher Coal company of Pursglove, where Stefanizzi worked.

NEW YORK, April 18—(P)—It is very hard to sell a visiting rabbit on the wonders of the big city.

Yes, that's right — a rabbit. I tried over the week-end. I gave a tour of the town to Pete, a ten and a half pound white rabbit from Minneapolis. And while I've met a lot of blase things in fur here, I never saw anyone quite as nonchalant as Pete. He preferred a carrot to the Empire State building.

Pete's trip here came as a reward. For two weeks before Easter he toured Minnesota raising funds for crippled children. He did such a fine job that his boss, Al Smalley of St. Paul, a jeepmate of mine in war days, decided to send him to Manhattan. I got the assignment to be his escort.

Sired 1,000 Rabbits
"Personally, I believe that Pete would enjoy living in New York," Smalley wrote. "He has sired 1,000 rabbits coservatively speaking."

Pete arrived a week ago as a hitch-hopping guest of Northwest Airlines. He came in a comfortable cage that bore a sign saying "Don't use the word 'hasenpfeffer' in his presence—it frightens him." Hasenpfeffer is German for "stewed rabbit."

Boredly accepting some food pellets, Pete kept looking around to see why Grover Whalen wasn't on hand to greet him. Then he was taken to a pet shop to rest up for a few days from his air voyage.

Figuring he was a Saturday night rabbit, I waited until that evening to show him the city. We went by cab and the driver kept looking back at Pete nervously and asking:

"What is it?"

Startled by Park Avenue

Pete was startled by Park avenue. He took one gander out at all the fur-covered ladies and then crouched down in his cage. He apparently thought he was in the midst of a forest of minks.

Crossing Fifth avenue he yawned. He yawned again as we went through Times Square. Pete looked a little homesick as we passed a small green park. Suddenly his pink eyes popped open in interest — we were going by a supermarket and its window was full of vegetables.

I dropped by to show Pete to the three-year-old son of a friend and the city-born boy's eyes kindled in wonder. It was the first time he had ever seen a rabbit.

"Hello, Bunny. Hello, Bunny," he said lovingly, over and over, as he fed Pete some watercress. When we had to leave, the little boy looked up and said "Now let's all go see a lion."

The Next Call

Our next call was a Greenwich Village apartment. And Pete was the life of the party. Glad to be out of his cage, he hopped about, nuzzling people.

Then Lou Grumwich, the wife of our host, played some tunes on her new zither. Pete, as befitted the first rabbit in modern history to be given a zither concert, listened intently. He was all ears. His pink eyes reddened in appreciation as she played his favorite tune, "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

After a hearty vegetarian supper, Pete went home about midnight — rather reluctantly. He wanted to stay up all night — an effect Greenwich Village has on people as well as rabbits.

The problem then was, "What to do with Pete?" The management doesn't allow pets in our apartment. I tried to find him

It Takes a Heap of Thinkin'

Almost painful to behold are the mental processes of this 6½-year-old British miss as she ponders moves in a London chess tournament. Marianne Allwright, youngest player in the British Girls' Chess championships, bites her thumb and shuts her eyes as she plans intricate moves. Finally she relaxes with a nonchalant yawn as she goes into action with her queen. (AP Wirephoto)

a nice home; but you'd be surprised how few people in Manhattan want a rabbit.

Off to France

Finally, Ted Alexander, an office boy, said, "I'd sure like to send Pete to my sister — she'd love to have him."

"Where does she live?"

"In Paris, Paris, France."

Well, I called up a pal at American Overseas Airlines and told him our problem.

"Bring Pete down," he said.

"We'll see he gets a good comfortable ride over."

And so Pete, the flying goodwill bunny, is off by air as Minnesota's first four-footed ambassador to France.

But Pete has traveled so much already he's getting mighty sophisticated. The French are going to have to hank the Eiffel Tower with lettuce if they want to impress him.

Chives, an onion-like green, may be raised the year round in flower pots just like any other house plant.

Ex-Convict Dies In a Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 18—(P)—A man who was killed as he fled a holdup here April 7 has been identified as Alan Watson, an ex-convict from Jefferson City, Mo.

Watson was identified by his sister, Mrs. Alvis Munholland of San Francisco, who said he was committed to the Missouri state penitentiary in 1933 for highway robbery.

Watson, 36, was shot as he fled from a grocery store holdup. Records at Missouri penitentiary showed Watson was sentenced to Alcoa intermediate reformatory in 1933 for a five year term on a Jackson county robbery conviction.

He escaped from Alcoa and while free was convicted of second degree murder in Cole county and sentenced to another 20 years.

He was sent to the Fulton state hospital as criminally insane in 1942, but later was returned to the prison, where he was discharged Nov. 3, 1948.

Princess Expects Child This Summer

LONDON, April 18—(P)—Buckingham palace announced Monday that Princess Elizabeth is cancelling all further public engagements—an indication she is expecting her second child this summer.

A similar announcement came from Buckingham palace prior to the birth of Prince Charles in November, 1948.

The expected baby will be the third in succession to the throne. Princess Elizabeth is heiress-presumptive. Prince Charles is next in line. The princess will be 24 years old next Friday.

Currently the princess is visiting her husband, Prince Philip, on the island of Malta where he is on duty with the Mediterranean fleet.

Refused to Upset System

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—Over the bitter protests of two justices, the Supreme Court refused Monday to upset Georgia's county unit election system.

Without disputing a lower court's finding that the system gives rural white-supremacy areas of the state a louder voice than the cities with their Negro and organized labor voting blocs, the seven-man majority said simply the high court cannot intervene.

But Justice Douglas, in a stinging dissent concurred in by Justice Black, called the Georgia set-up the "last loophole" around previous decisions that "there must be no discrimination because of race in primary as well as in general elections."

The 33 year old Georgia law in question is patterned somewhat after the national electoral college, giving each county from two to six election units. It applies only in the primary, but in Georgia the Democratic primary is the only real contest.

Actually, what the tribunal did today was to affirm a lower court decision which had had the effect of upholding the legality of the Georgia system.

Douglas' dissent was his first opinion since his return to the bench after long recuperation from a riding accident last October.

The majority opinion was unsigned. And only Douglas and Black dissented.

50,000 Miles - No Wear!

1. Punishing 50,000 Mile Test! To put sensational new Conoco Super Motor Oil to one of the most punishing tests ever tried, six brand-new cars were driven over the blistering desert along the Mexican border... 14 hours a day for 70 days. After 50,000 miles of continuous driving, engines showed no wear of any consequence... in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts! Amazing proof: original factory grinding marks were still visible on piston rings!

NEW CONOCO Super MOTOR OIL

2. Keeps Your New Car New! This amazing road test—the equivalent of 5 years' normal mileage—proved that Conoco Super Motor Oil—with proper crankcase drains and regular care—can keep your new car new! Even the gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles of the run was as good as for the first 5,000 miles—actually there was an average difference for the fleet of only 4/100 of a mile per gallon!

3. New-Car Power! Quicker Starts! Yes—Conoco Super Motor Oil's extra protection keeps that factory flash... that showroom smoothness... year after year! Conoco Super Motor Oil OIL-PLATES metal surfaces to make your engine last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil! Conoco Super Motor Oil virtually stops wear before it starts... keeps your engine new and clean! Conoco Super Motor Oil has proved itself to be the great new modern wear-fighter.

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Secretary General Trygve Lie of the United Nations is considering the idea of visiting Marshal Stalin in Moscow in an effort to get Russia and her satellites to resume normal relations with the now ham-strung peace organization.

This is a part of the secretary general's save-the-U.N. campaign and so may be viewed in a different light than previous proposals for peace-appeals to Moscow. Most of the former suggestions involved officials of various western governments and immediately evoked cries of "appeasement."

However, Mr. Trygve Lie is in a unique position. As secretary general of the U. N. he is a servant of all nations. He is in effect a "citizen of the world" whose job is to act as moderator in the effort of welding all countries together.

As a matter of fact, if the secretary general does carry his plea to Moscow, it will tend to put the Soviet Union on a spot where it may have to declare itself either for or against peace. Previous approaches by western statesmen have failed because of the very fact that they were western statesmen and therefore could be viewed by the Kremlin as having axes to grind.

The secretary general is sailing for Europe next Saturday on what will be the most important mission he has undertaken since he became head of the U. N. four years ago. He expects to confer with British Secretary of State Bevin in London and with French Foreign Minister Schuman in Paris and then may head for Moscow.

There have of course been innumerable issues over which Russia and the western powers have clashed in the U. N. One of the hottest revolves about the continued membership of Nationalist China. The Soviet representatives and their satellites have been demanding that the Nationalists be thrown out and that the Chinese Communist government be given the membership in view of its military victory over the Nationalists.

The fight has got so bitter that Russia now is boycotting 20 U. N. organizations. Lie himself has been campaigning for the seating of the Chinese Communists, contending that this is the "common sense" as well as the legalistic approach.

Mr. Lie maintains that the U. N. membership should go to the government that controls the majority of the people and the land mass. He wants the Red Chinese seated right away in order to bring the Russians back. In this connection it's interesting to note that Republican adviser John Foster Dulles also maintains in a new book that the Red Chinese government should be admitted to the U. N. if the regime "in fact proves its ability to govern China without serious domestic resistance." However, Dulles doesn't think the Reds can demonstrate this ability to rule China.

One would think that the neutral head of the peace organization would be able to win Moscow over if anyone could. So if the secretary general makes the trip to Moscow, his progress will be watched with intense interest the world over. But perhaps we shouldn't be heavily optimistic over the outcome.

If the Chinese Communist government were seated in the U. N., it wouldn't be surprising if Moscow reciprocated by dropping the boycotts, or some of them. However, you and I know that Moscow is working on a thoroughly prepared and long range program for communicating the world. The Red leaders may deviate from that program slightly for the sake of expedience at times, but we may be sure that they are not going to abandon their world offensive until they either succeed or come up against a stone wall.

So we wish Secretary General Lie success — and keep our fingers crossed for him. If he achieves anything at all, why, part of a loaf is better than no bread at all.

HAIFA, Israel—(AP)—Anybody who doesn't like it in Israel doesn't have to stay. So ruled a Haifa magistrate.

Three young Jews travelled to Britain as stowaways aboard the "Cyprus Prince". They were returned to Israel.

Magistrate J. Maman said he had no powers to authorize their exit from Israel. But, he added, he saw no object in punishing people who do not wish to stay here.

Magical Drink For The Ease Of Heart Pains

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor
BOSTON, April 18—(AP)—The magic drink of water made by atomic energy is relieving heart pains, shortness of breath and tired feelings.

The report on this new medical step was made to the opening session of the American College of physicians today by doctors Herman L. Blumgart, A. Stone, Freedberg and George S. Kurland, of Beth Israel hospital and Harvard Medical School.

The magic drink is radioactive iodine in water. The amount of iodine is so small as to be almost tasteless, but some patients say it tastes like nectar to them.

The drink was given to 22 patients with either angina pectoris or congestive heart failure. All were complete invalids. Four returned to work and a number of others began again to enjoy life at home.

The iodine does not go near the heart, but enters the thyroid gland and there the radioactive rays destroy part of the gland. They destroy as much as the doctor wants. He regulates the amount by how much hot iodine he puts in the water.

The result of the thyroid destruction is to cut down production in that gland of the body's energy hormone, thyroxine. The sick hearts there upon do not work as hard.

The stabbing pains of angina pectoris, one of the worst known forms of human agony, were strikingly relieved in about one-third of these cases.

Congestive heart failure causes shortness of breath, swelling ankles and tired feelings. These troubles also nearly disappeared in some of the patients.

Altogether two-thirds of the heart sufferers got better and one-third received no benefit.

Radioactive iodine is made at Oak Ridge Tennessee by transmutation of a sulfur-like chemical, tellurium, in the atomic ovens. It is also made at the Argonne laboratory, Chicago, where it comes from splitting uranium atoms. Iodine is one of the new atoms formed in these splits.

Bill For Huge Sum Passed On Waterways

Senate Votes Its Approval In Sum Of $1,840,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—The Senate Monday night passed a $1,840,000,000 waterways authorization bill after beating all attempts by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) to reduce the total. The vote on passage was 59 to 19.

Action by the Senate, after more than a week of debate, sends the bill to a conference with the House, which passed the bill last summer when it called for only $1,332,743,825 worth of projects.

The authorization bill appropriates no money. It paves the way for future appropriations for construction work on scores of new flood control and river and harbor projects and for additional work on major comprehensive programs now under way.

Douglas waged a virtual single-handed legislative battle to cut the bill. He offered nearly 20 amendments designed to eliminate more than $800,000,000 in authorizations. The Senate rejected every amendment he offered.

As approved by the Senate, the bill would authorize flood control projects costing $1,364,500,200 and rivers and harbors work to cost $228,373,125.

Some For Reclamation
An additional $200,000,000 monetary authorization is provided for reclamation projects in the Missouri river basin.

Other items include $19,000,000 for agriculture department watershed improvement projects, $15,000,000 for emergency use and $20,000,000 for surveys, $1,500,000 for power surveys by the federal power commission and for agriculture department use in the watershed of the Santa Ynez river in California.

The Senate public works committee added approximately $476,000,000 to the House bill and its additions were accepted by the Senate.

The House bill included some $998,116,200 for flood control projects and $119,469,975 for rivers and harbors.

The Senate, which previously had rejected 13 moves by Douglas to eliminate projects costing a total of nearly $200,000,000, turned him down flatly today in attempts to toss out huge authorizations for some of the major rivers.

Douglas' amendments would have eliminated $200,000,000 for the lower Mississippi, $250,000,000 for the Missouri river basin, $100,000,000 for the Ohio river, and $89,000,000 for the Arkansas.

$200,000 Fire In Arkansas

CLARKSVILLE, Ark., April 18—(P)—A section of the business district in this Ozarks college town was razed by a spectacular fire Monday afternoon.

The same section was destroyed by fire 49 years ago, said Sheriff Lloyd Yarbrough. Today's fire destroyed the Arlington hotel building, a two-story structure, occupying a fourth of a block on the courthouse square and seven business firms. The hotel occupied the second floor; the business firms the ground floor.

Sheriff Yarbrough estimated the loss at around $200,000. He said origin of the fire has not been determined.

No one was hurt, although several fire-fighters suffered abrasions and bruises.

The main highway from Little Rock, 100 miles southeast of here, to Fort Smith passes by the building and traffic had to be detoured. The sheriff said he thought the street could be opened late tonight.

Business firms destroyed included the Johnson county weekly Graphic Newspaper plant, an insurance agency, two pool halls, a beauty shop, cafeteria and men's clothing store.

The U. S. bureau of land management handles 22,000 oil and gas leases on more than 19,000,000 acres of public lands.

Final Concert For Symphony

The Sedalia Symphony orchestra with conductor, Abe Rosenthal will close its fifteenth season Monday night April 24th in the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium. The guest artists that will appear with the symphony will be the Nettleton Twins, duo piano team of Kansas City.

Jeanne and Joanne Nettleton are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Nettleton of Topeka, Kas. Their careers in music began at the age of five. Their studies in Topeka were with Mrs. Floyd Flanagan and when they went to Kansas City, in 1948 they studied at the Kansas City conservatory.

The twins will be well remembered here by the members of the Helen G. Steele Music club since they appeared here on March 10th 1948 at the Heard Memorial club house, in a recital. The concert will start promptly at 8:20 o'clock.

A group of musicians from C. M. S. C. at Warrensburg were in the regular rehearsal of the orchestra Monday night at Smith-Cotton's music room.

Abe Rosenthal, announced that the orchestra will hold a special rehearsal at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All orchestra members are requested to be present at this practice as it will be the final one for the season.

Two passengers in the Snelling car were injured.

New Skycraper Boom

NEW YORK—(P)—Construction of new office buildings being completed in New York this year rivals "several of the most fabulous years in the history of skyscrapers," says Lee Thompson Smith of the Home Title Guaranty Co. in the firm's monthly bulletin.

"This year, with 4,208,000 square feet of new office space being placed on the rental market," Smith says, "is way above 1925's 1,474,700 and 1927's 1,185,700. It is just one building away from the 1929 mark of 4,817,000, right on the heels of 1928's 4,362,800, and makes a good showing against 1929's 5,324,900."

He reports that rents in the new buildings range close to $7 per square foot.

Tokyo Morals Collapse; Boys Are Kissing Girls

By NEA Service

COLUMBUS, O. — (NEA) — A Tokyo professor, now studying at Ohio State University here beginning to be afraid that there's more to this freedom business than meets the eye. It can be downright immoral.

Japanese boys and girls, Senjiro Hosokawa thinks, are copying behavior patterns from the American GI's on occupation duty. And, he adds politely, there are a few of the boys who are not what he calls perfect examples of propriety. Some of them don't even ask a girl's parents first, when they want a date.

"You people," says the 35-year-old professor at Tokyo Teachers' College, "should be more discreet in your introduction of your way of life. In your eagerness to democratize our country, freedom has been misinterpreted."

The serious-faced Hosokawa fears that pretty soon Japanese marriages will be arranged by the parties involved and the nation's moral structure may suffer other similar signs of breaking down.

"I sometimes feel very sorry for American girls who have to search out their ideal husbands for themselves without the advice of their parents," is the way he expresses it.

"My own marriage was arranged by my teacher." (The Hosokawas have two children, but Hosokawa had no statistics about his teacher's offspring.) "Parents and teachers are more objective in making a marriage."

Among other signs of a moral collapse cited by Hosokawa are co-educational schools and boys and girls mingling in dance halls and at the movies. All in all, it's a very serious thing to a very serious young Japanese.

Perhaps the worst thing the Americans brought to Japan—excluding the atom bomb, or course—was the kiss. It seems that each GI brought his private osculatory Marshall Plan with him to Japan. Before the war, kissing was a shocking thing in Japan.

Now, there's a different kind of shock in a Nipponese kiss.

Fire Destroys Trailer And Some Contents

Fire practically destroyed a large trailer and more than half of its load of canned rice olives about 10:30 o'clock, Monday night, on Highway 50, about five miles west of Sedalia. The losses will run into several thousands of dollars, it was reported.

Ray Jones, Alvin, Texas, driver of the tractor for the Levinton and Co., Houston, Texas, reported there was no fire when he left the trailer and tractor parked along the highway while he came into Sedalia to obtain two new tires to replace those which blew out on the right rear wheels. Jones reported he was enroute to St. Paul, Minn., and Chicago with his load, and when passing through Dresden, the tires on that side blew out.

Tires Got Hot
He was unable to come to an immediate stop and it was believed the tires became so hot that they burst into flames a few minutes after Jones was picked up by a passing motorist and brought into Sedalia. He purchased two new tires from Montgomery Ward's Co., and was returning to his outfit when he saw the fire.

Tarpaulin Burns
While he was gone, a tarpaulin caught fire, burned off of the top of the trailer, dropped down and set fire to the rear of the trailer. Particles of the burning canvas dropped onto the cardboard boxes in which the canned olives were encased and set them on fire.

Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson, and their three children, of the Reine Dairy farm, route 5, Sedalia, stopped at the fire and with the aid of another motorist succeeded in uncoupling the tractor from the trailer and drove it to a safe distance from the fire.

A newspaper reporter who arrived on the scene under a fire extinguisher to darken the fire around the gasoline tank of the tractor while the others went to work in getting it uncoupled. Within a short time other motorists arriving at the scene unloaded fifty or more cases of olives and tossed a large number of other cases which were scorched or burning into a ditch.

Sheriff John Taylor and State Highway Patrolman Pete Stohr went to the scene to make an investigation.

Jones, who remained at the scene throughout the night, expressed his appreciation of the efforts of the sheriff and the highway patrol. During the night Trooper Stohr returned to Sedalia and on his return to the scene took hot coffee and sandwiches to Jones. "I have never had much contact with highway patrolmen, but if this fellow is an example of the Missouri Patrol, they are sure a swell bunch of fellows," Jones said.

The loss to the trailer was said to have been more than $2,000 and to the merchandise more than $1,500.

Cooperation in Census Work

Many Sedalians displayed cooperation, Monday, in informing Edw. S. Behen, Sedalia crew leader of the census, they had not been contacted as yet by an enumerator. He is still desiring others, who failed to reach him Monday night to call his home anytime between 6:30 o'clock until 9:00 o'clock at night tonight, Thursday and Friday.

Monday night Mr. Behen reported receiving 42 calls, which indicated there are many who have not been at home at the time the enumerator called. Having received so many calls Monday, Mr. Behen indicated there may have been a large number of persons who were unable to contact him due to a "busy line."

To be counted in the Sedalia population census, those who have not been contacted should notify Mr. Behen and an enumerator will be sent to the residence at the convenience of the party calling.

Personal

Mrs. Grace Bayley, of Los Angeles, Calif., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Bentley and Mr. Bentley, 917 West Fifth street, left Sunday to sail on "The Queen Mary" for a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Fred Wertz, 1425 1/2 South Limit avenue, returned home today from East Liverpool, Ohio, where she visited her son, Richard Wertz and family, and her granddaughter Karen Marie, who was born on April 9.

The car with the Hawaiian license plate, seen on Sedalia's streets belongs to Robert F. Steed, who with his wife and two sons, Robert, Jr., and Theodore, are visiting his brother, Oliver R. Steed and Mrs. Steed, 820 West Seventh street. The latter has not seen his brother for eight years. The Robert Steeds are machinist and registered nurse respectively. They have been living in Hawaii and later Palmyra Island in the Pacific. Now back in the states the Steeds want to stay in America, particularly Missouri and more particularly Sedalia if they can find location here.

Mrs. Embree Baldwin, of Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, returned home Saturday night after spending several days here. Mrs. Baldwin stopped at the Bothwell hotel while here and was entertained at dinner by several friends. Mrs. Baldwin visited in Jefferson City, Columbia and Booneville and while in Booneville attended the military ball held at the Kemper Military academy on April 8.

Visiting Choir Wednesday Night
At 8:00 o'clock Wednesday, the Wynn York Kansas City University A Cappella Choir will appear at Smith-Cotton auditorium for a public program. An appearance in Kansas City last Sunday afternoon was well received by a large audience in songs typical of their repertoire which consists in the sacred, spiritual and special arrangement types especially.

Sedalians will remember Jay Jolly of Sedalia, who is a member of the choir in the bass section.

The Kansas City Star reviewer credited the choir for their Sunday appearance there with "... responsiveness and good balance, excellent blending of parts and a good choice of solo voices."

Near Bombing In Love Affair

LOS ANGELES, April 18—(AP)—A suicide watch was placed on John N. Grant today as police advanced a love triangle theory for the near-bombing of a plane carrying 16 persons, including his wife and two children.

Grant, 32, was placed under strict guard after it was found he had torn strips of cloth from his jailcell mattress in an attempt to make a noose, Detective Jack Goldstone said.

The young father, who police say lost his nerve just as the alleged plot was about to come off, was linked with a pretty red haired airline stewardess in a striking similarity to the Canadian plane explosion case which brought a murder conviction to J. Albert Guay recently.

Police Lt. C. E. Ream said that Miss Betty Suomela of Hermosa Beach told him that she was in love with John Henry Grant, 32, and that at the approximate time yesterday that he placed the bomb on an United Air Lines DC-3, she thought he was appearing in court getting a divorce from his wife.

The stewardess, who is not employed by United, told Ream that Grant led her to believe that he would marry her after the divorce. Ream questioned the stewardess after Grant drove her car to the airport.

Ex-Sedalian To Jamboree
J. W. Kinney, of Excelsior Springs, formerly of Sedalia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Kinney, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kinney, 607 West Sixteenth street and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Italy Has Pension Trouble

ROME—(AP)—The Italian government is paying more than 1,100,000 war pensions from the Second World War and new applications are still coming in at a rate of ten thousand a month. The disability payments range from a minimum of $1 a month up to a maximum of $100.

Parliament is expected to take up consideration soon of a new proposal to raise the payments on the ground that they are no longer in keeping with Italian living costs. There are still 450,000 applicants for war disability payments whose cases have not yet been settled.

Dies of Burns

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 18—(AP)—An 18-year-old Mansfield, Mo., girl died in a hospital here Monday of burns suffered April 3 when a gasoline iron overflowed and flared.

She was Miss Elveta Plaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Plaster. Burns covered 70 per cent of her body, doctors said.

The girl was ironing a dress before going to school the morning of April 3 when the accident occurred. The burning gasoline ignited a housecoat she was wearing. She ran to a pond near the house and jumped in to extinguish the flames.

The crossword puzzle features a central portrait of a man with dark hair and a mustache, wearing a suit and tie. The grid is composed of white squares for letters and grey shaded squares for non-letter positions. Numbers are placed at the start of each word, indicating its starting square(s). The clues are listed on either side of the grid.

Major Leagues Open Their Seasons Today

Seven Of Games In The Big Leagues To Be By Daylight

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Big league baseball opens its diamond jubilee season today with games in eight cities.

Crowds totalling 260,000 are expected to witness the inaugurals, with the largest gathering of 60,000 turning out for the Cleveland-Detroit contest at Cleveland.

President Truman, true to tradition, will throw out the first ball at Washington, where the Nationals open against the Philadelphia Athletics led by venerable Connie Mack.

Seven games are scheduled in daylight. The eighth, a novelty number, matches the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates under the lights at St. Louis.

By vote of the nation's sports-writers, the Brooklyn Dodgers are top-heavy favorites to repeat for the championship of the National League; the Boston Red Sox to succeed the New York Yankees for the American league crown.

Top Notchers Get Going
The game's two highest-salaried stars, Ted Williams of the Red Sox ($125,000) and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees ($100,000) will display their wares in the opener at Boston's Fenway park.

It will mark only the sixth time since he joined the Yankees in 1936 that DiMaggio, the famed "climber," has conquered illness and injury to appear in his team's first game. He has looked great this spring.

Prospects are for a bumper crop of debates between umpires and managers as the season progresses and the men in blue call the new one-second balk rule written into the book during the winter.

The rule, which requires the pitcher to pause a full second before delivering when men are on base, has proved a terrific headache to the flingers in spring games. They insist, bitterly, that it is only another effort to help the offense and hamstringing the poor pitcher.

Following is the opening schedule:
AMERICAN LEAGUE
Philadelphia at Washington.
St. Louis at Cleveland.
Detroit at Chicago.
New York at Boston.
NATIONAL LEAGUE
Boston at New York.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Cincinnati.
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night).

Staley on Mound For Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, April 18—(AP)—An assist from the weather man... that's the baseball prayer in St. Louis today.

If the weatherman comes through, approximately 30,000 fans are expected to watch the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates play the first night major league baseball opener in the history of the sport tonight.

The official forecast is for a low of 50 degrees. That's a warning thought for a fan who hasn't seen a baseball game since the cold set in last fall.

Scheduled to pitch for the Cards is Gerald Staley. Pittsburgh plans to use Bob Chenes. Both are righthanders. The game in Sportsman's Park will start at 8:30 p. m. (CST).

Probable starting lineups:
Pittsburgh: St. Louis: Seard, cf. Walker, cf. Hopp, 1b. Schoendienst, 2b. Kiner, 2b. Musial, 3b. Fernandez, lf. Slaughter, lf. Wellake, cf. Karak, 2b. Murtough, 2b. Nelson, 1b. Bojek, ss. Gargiola, c. Fernandez, 3b. Miller, ss. Chenes, p. Staley, p.

American Association Opens 1950 Baseball

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18—(AP)—The American Association opens its 49th baseball season today with the same eight cities in the cast that started in the inaugural year of 1902.

And the prevailing feeling of optimism was expressed by league president Bruce Dudley, who said "any way you look at it, this should be our best year."

Dudley based his forecast for the best brand of ball since before the war on observations made in the spring training camps. Today's openers, with probable pitchers:

Indianapolis (Muir) at Columbus (Haddix) 8 p. m.
Louisville (Griffore) at Toledo (Marlowe) 3 p. m.
Minneapolis (Xabala) at Milwaukee (Martin) 2:20 p. m.
St. Paul (Taylor) at Kansas City (Madison) 2:30 p. m.

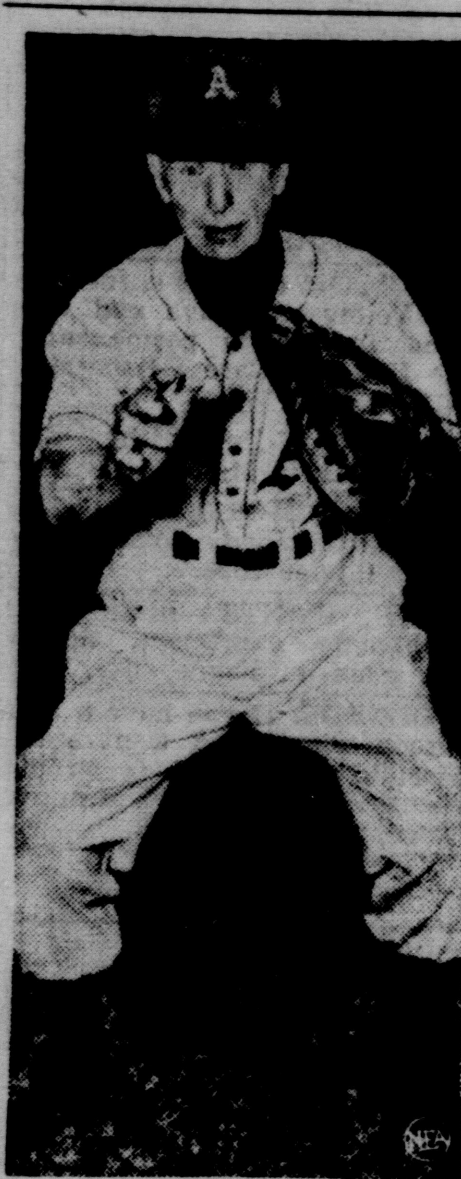

The time in each instance is the prevailing time in the host city. St. Paul won the pennant last year, but Indianapolis, which finished in second place, went on to win the Shaughnessy playoff and the little world series against Montreal of the International League.

Visiting clubs today have home openers next Monday and Tuesday.

Truman Performs Opening Honors

By Joe Ives

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Baseball's best known part-time pitcher, who used to be an umpire, officially opens the 1950 major league season today.

It's the fifth appearance for President Harry Truman — the seventh chief executive to perform opening honors.

Invited to sit in the presidential box with the President, Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret, were some old family friends from Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Harry Jobe, and Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson of New York City. Davidson manages Margaret's singing concerts.

The opening game, between the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics, also cut into congressional activities. Capitol Hill leaders doubted they would have enough lawmakers on hand to do much business.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington club said that not many of the presidents who have been tossing out the first ball ever since the days of William Howard Taft were what you might call pitchers.

"But that doesn't go for President Truman," he said.

Looking at a picture of the 1949 opener on his wall, Griffith said: "For an umpire that fellow is a pretty good pitcher. Mr. Truman, you know, was an umpire in Missouri. He told me the kids in his hometown wouldn't let him play with the club because he wore glasses. . . . So he went behind the plate."

Sedalia Cubs' Manager on Business Trip in Oklahoma

Jack Alpert, 506 West Fourth street, manager of the Sedalia Cubs, left today for Bartlesville, Okla., on a business trip. He plans to stay in Oklahoma about 10 days. While he is gone, Cliff Barr will be in charge of the local baseball team.

Red Wings vs. Rangers in Hockey Tilt

Both Teams Fight For The Stanley Cup Championships

DETROIT, April 18—(AP)—Anxious to wind it up fast, the Detroit Red Wings take another whack at the New York Rangers here tonight in the Stanley cup championship series.

The league champion Wings, enjoying a 2-1 edge, are strong favorites to make it three in a row and get a good grip on the prize mug.

A crowd of 13,000 to 14,000 is expected. Despite the distractions of the new baseball season, the motor city still is hot over hockey. A third in a row for Detroit would put New York in a desperate situation. All the remaining games of the best-of-seven series will be played here.

Donkey Baseball Here April 28

The Northeast Athletic club will sponsor a donkey ball game, which will be played under the lights at Housel Park, Friday night, April 28, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

This will make the third annual year for this event, at which time thrills and spills are a plenty, when the Sedalia merchants endeavor to ride the donkeys and at the same time, try to score runs for their respective team.

The donkeys are owned by Glen Jones, who has his own lighting system and equipment to help stage real entertainment for the fans.

The funds realized from this game will be used to buy equipment for the boys' ball club, such as bats and balls and other baseball equipment.

The Northeast Athletic club is sponsoring two teen-age baseball teams this year. Tickets for the donkey baseball game are now on sale by any member of the Northeast Athletic club.

K. of C. Softball Team To Practice Wednesday

The Knights of Columbus softball team will again take the field in Sedalia, and will undoubtedly play many home games, since the new softball diamond at Sixteenth street and Center avenue, will be equipped with flood lights for playing night ball.

The team will be managed by H. A. Bundy, and will hold its first practice session Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Smith-Cotton diamond. All softball players interested in playing ball, should be present at the first workout.

The Knights have again entered the Tri-County League. A committee has been appointed to take charge of the aggregation, and the officials in charge anticipate a great year for the local softball team.

Probable Pitchers

By The Associated Press
Today's opening day schedule of the major leagues, probable pitchers with last year's records, probable attendance, and expected weather:

National League
Boston at New York — Spahn (12-14) vs. Jansen (15-16) (30,000) partly cloudy. Temperature 67.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia — Newcombe (17-8) vs. Roberts (15-15) (32,000). Partly cloudy. Near 70.
Chicago at Cincinnati — Schmitz (11-13) vs. Raffensberger (18-17) (32,000). Cloudy, 63.
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night) — Chenes (7-13) vs. Staley (10-10) (32,000). Partly cloudy. Near 50.
New York at Boston — Reynolds (17-6) vs. Parnell (23-8) (32,000). Fair, 64.
St. Louis at Chicago — Garver (12-17) vs. Wright (13-13) (18,900). Risk of showers. Near 70.
Detroit at Cleveland — Houtteman (15-10) or Hutchinson (15-7) vs. Lemon (22-17) (63,000). Partly cloudy, 68.
Philadelphia at Washington — Scheig (9-13) vs. Scarborough (13-11) (30,000). Partly cloudy, 71.

WINNING CAPTAIN

—M. Darling, of Edmonton, holds the championship trophy after the Canadian ice hockey team beat Sweden in the world title final at Wembley, London.

Mat Action This Wednesday Night

Sonny Meyers of St. Joseph, Mo., will enter the wrestling ring again Lee Henning, Buffalo, N. Y. in the main event Wednesday night at the National Guard armory under auspices of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

Meyers, a well known mat man in this area has been "itching" to get into a battle with Henning for sometime in the Sedalia ring. Meyers, having won last week and Henning, being the victor in his match, brought the two together for this week.

The St. Joseph wrestler has developed into one of the best heavyweights of the midwest and Henning is considered by many a fan as the toughest to invade the midwest.

Coming back to Sedalia for the semi-windup match is one of the most hated of the villain group, Roy "Cowboy" Graham of Dallas, Texas, who is slated to clash with Mayes McLain of Lawrence, Kas. McLain is a newcomer to the local ring and will be a good competitor for the cowboy from Texas.

Opening the event of the wrestling entertainment at 8:30 o'clock will be a match between Ellis Bashara of Houston, Tex., and Walter Sirois, Montreal, Canada.

Jack Hadro of Kansas City will be the third man in the ring.

Practice For Sedalia Cubs to be Thursday

The Sedalia Cubs, newly organized semi-pro baseball team, will hold their regular practice Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock in place of the usual practice time Wednesday evening of this week.

Pet Alligators Got Too Big For Their Homes

PHILADELPHIA, April 18—(AP)—Ed Weinhold and his two pet alligators have come to a parting of the ways—there just wasn't room enough in Ed's house.

Weinhold, who lives at Reading, Pa., bought the gators 27 years ago at Jacksonville, Fla.

The pets, then only a foot long each, were named Joe and Josie. Everything was fine for the first 10 years or so. But Joe and Josie continued to expand while Weinhold's house stayed the same size.

The other day, Weinhold took a good look at his alligators—Joe measured six feet and Josie six feet, six inches. Then he got in touch with the Philadelphia zoo.

It may take Ed a little time to get used to all that extra room.

Athletic Banquet at S-H This Evening

The Sacred Heart high school will hold its third annual athletic banquet this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria room.

Rev. A. J. Brunswick, superintendent, will present the athletic awards in basketball, and volleyball.

Over 40 high school students will be present for the occasion. Rev. Anthony Migoni, athletic director, will preside and introduce the guests. Palmer Nichols, basketball coach, will give the response.

Lead Changes Hands In ABC Tournament

COLUMBUS, O., April 18—(AP)—Fourteen changes in the positions of leading scorers featured the third day of the ABC bowling tournament here yesterday.

In the singles division, Michael Liberati of Binghamton, N.Y., and Walter Thoren of Brooklyn each rolled 77, to tie for second place. First place still is held by John Strobel of Milwaukee, Wis., who scored 679 points Sunday.

Jerome Koscycki of Buffalo, N. Y., mauled the Maples for 669 points yesterday to land in third place in this division, shoving Bob Duncan of Toronto, Can., 658, into fourth place.

Hubbard Boys Work Out for Baseball Team

22 Players Have Been Working Out For Past 2 Weeks

The rainy weather took a punch at the Hubbard Tigers baseball hopefuls Monday, stopping practice as the team finally began to show some signs of shaping into a nice high school ball club.

Twenty-two members of the high school have been trying out at the various positions for the past two weeks, with the weather being the main drawback in molding the team into a unit.

This marks the first time in a number of years that Hubbard will field a team to represent the school. The possibility of scheduling games during the last few weeks of school makes a schedule of around eight games to be played, weather permitting.

Baseball Players

to work. The infield will find such players as Mason, Herndon, Payne, Bratton, Snorgrass, Dinsmore, Everage, trying for positions.

The field also shapes up with two fine flycatchers in Estes, Jones and Alexander. Other fielders include Carter, Jones, Irving and Rucker.

The first intra-squad game will be Thursday, weather permitting, to find out what the boys actually have under pressure of winning a position on the varsity.

Any teams wishing to schedule games during the week with the Hubbard Tigers on Monday through Friday, are asked to get in touch with the Hubbard coach, H. S. Broadus at 3655-J, any evening after 4:30 p.m.

Florida Has New Underwater Boom; Shrimp

Biggest Fishermen's Bonanza in Years Brings New Prosperity to Key West; Electronics Get Credit

By NEA Service

KEY WEST, Fla.—The discovery of rich, new shrimp grounds off the southern tip of Florida has turned into the biggest fishermen's bonanza in years.

In what amounts to a shrimp "gold rush," virtually the nation's entire shrimping fleet—300 to 400 boats—has stampeded to the area from Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, the Carolinas and points as far distant as New Jersey.

Fishermen say it's the greatest shrimp flotilla ever assembled in American waters. So great has been the migration that old-established grounds throughout the South Atlantic region have been virtually deserted.

The abundance of shrimp and the magic of electronic "fish-finders" are enabling the fishermen to reap a harvest of 200,000 to 250,000 pounds a week. The average boat, with crew of three to five, is catching between $500 and $800 worth of shrimp a week.

PINK GOLD: Jumbo shrimp from Key West's rich new grounds dwarf a man's hand.

FISH-FINDER: Depth recorder gives Capt. Grady Weaver chart of ocean bottom off Florida.

The shrimp, a large, pink variety known as Brazilian Imperials, are mostly in the coral-studded waters around Dry Tortugas, a group of tiny islands about 60 miles west of President Truman's winter vacation spot.

Electronic "fish-finders," which actually are ultrasonic depth recorders developed by Bendix Aviation Corporation during wartime, not only warn fishermen of the treacherous coral reefs which rip their $350 nets to pieces, but also show them the precise location of the mud bottoms where the shrimp live.

Fishery authorities say this reliance upon scientific methods will enable fishermen to get the most out of the new grounds and also will permit still untapped grounds to be explored. It is believed that equally productive areas lie to the north of the grounds now being fished.

Discovery of the new grounds and the influx of fishermen—many with their families—have brought unexpected prosperity to Key West and other cities on Florida's west coast. Docks as far north as Tampa are jammed. The greatest activity, though, is centered at Key West which may be witnessing the birth of a new, million dollar-plus industry.

Only a few weeks ago Key West docks were virtually deserted. Now they're a bustling, busy place. Boats are lined up three and four abreast at times. Four packers have set up headquarters there to handle the "pink gold" harvest. In one plant alone, 200 women have been put to work

"heading" the shrimp as they are unloaded from boats.

The city's only ice-producing plant is rushing plans to double its output. So much ice is needed to pack the shrimp for shipment to big eastern markets the additional supplies are being trucked in from Miami.

The new discovery is no flash in the pan. Dr. Clarence Idyll, research associate and fishery specialist at the University of Miami marine laboratory, says the new grounds show promise of yielding for years to come.

Aside from its rich return to the fishermen, and increased prosperity to many Florida towns, the new strike is regarded as highly significant to the seafood industry. The finding of the new grounds came at a time when old-established areas were showing signs of playing out. It also came in what is normally an off-season period for shrimpen. Eastern markets are now being supplied almost entirely from the new grounds.

Before the new Florida strike, the nation's largest shrimp grounds were in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana, where an enormous field was discovered in 1937.

H. E. Studer Takes Over As Mayor

Flowers to Studer
And Alderman Moore
And Gifts to Retiring
Mayor J. H. Bagby

Meeting in regular session Monday night, the City Council which has been active for the past year, some of them having served for much longer than that, transacted all unfinished and new business to come up and adjourned sine die. The retiring mayor, Julian H. Bagby, Democrat, who was not a candidate for re-election, thanked his alderman for the cooperation he had been given and presented the incoming mayor, Herb E. Studer, aged 32, Republican, who had been a member of the council, serving from the fourth ward.

Presented With Gifts

Prior to Mayor Bagby's leaving the chair Councilman Earl Lashley presented him with a gold belt buckle and cuff links, a gift of the seven Democratic aldermen and a radio, the card reading, "From a few friends who think you have done a wonderful job." Emmet Sullivan, Democratic city and county chairman, then presented him with two pieces of luggage, both gentlemen expressing their highest regard for the outgoing mayor and for the accomplishments during his four-year term expiring.

Flowers to Newly Elected

Two bouquets of flowers were presented to the incoming mayor, one from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Studer, the other from the Republican Women's club. Harry Moore, incoming alderman for the first ward, received a bouquet from the Carpenters' Local, 1772, of which he has been a member 33 years.

In addition to Mayor Studer, four newly elected aldermen took office. They were: Harry Moore, first ward, introduced by his predecessor, Virgil Corson; Elmer Sumners, who succeeds himself, presented by Walter Smethers; Earl Lashley, also succeeding himself, presented by Emery L. Ellsworth and Jim Reed, newly elected, introduced by Studer, whom he succeeded. All aldermen are Democrats.

Financial Report

Sumners, who has served as chairman of the financial committee, made the following report: "To the Mayor and City Council of the City of Sedalia, Mo. Gentlemen: "I wish to report the balances of the various bank accounts of the City of Sedalia, as of April 15th, 1950:

"General Account	$ 25,099.74
"Bond Account	364,087.96
"Funded Account	49,848.85
"Total	$439,037.55

"Respectfully submitted by: Elmer C. Sumners, chairman, Committee on Finance and Taxes."

By a vote of 6 to 2 the property on West Broadway, on the south side of the street, next to the southeast corner of State Fair boulevard and Broadway, was rezoned for business purposes. It is owned by Dr. L. S. Geiger and the purpose of rezoning is that it may be sold to R. M. Dillon, for a wholesale and retail bakery. The ordinance had been tabled early in March, and it was unanimously voted to remove it from the table. Studer asked the report of the zoning board be read. It had rejected an application for rezoning. When the matter was voted on as to rezoning Studer and Smethers voted no.

$10,000 To Airport Fund

The salary of the chief of police was raised from $3,180 to $3,600 and the city collector from $2,100 to $2,700.

An ordinance was passed appropriating $10,000 toward the new municipal airport fund, for which state and federal aid will be asked.

Reno Johnson asked for a license to sell package liquor at 109 West Fifth street.

Earl Lashley presented a petition from property owners, asking for a sewer district between Madison and Merriam and Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets.

Cancelled coupons for paid off indebtedness and interest were burned.

Mr. Studer, the incoming mayor, on receiving the gavel from Mayor Bagby made his preliminary remarks, appearing elsewhere in this paper. He then asked if anyone had anything to present before the Council and when no one did he declared a motion to adjourn would be in order, which followed and was adopted.

New Mayor in Office at An Early Hour

Mrs. Frank Evans
On Job Today
As Secretary

The new mayor of Sedalia, Herb E. Studer, the only Republican to hold a present city elective office in Sedalia, took over the reins of the city government today.

Mayor Studer was at the office early this morning, getting the "feel" of a mayor's duties. He said he planned to spend the remainder of the week at the city hall in the morning and afternoon for the purpose of getting better acquainted with the duties of mayor.

Effective Monday, the 32-year-old mayor, said the office hours for the mayor would be about the same as those of the outgoing mayor, Julian H. Bagby, from 1:00 o'clock until 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon. On Saturdays, the mayor's office will be open in the mornings between the hours of 10:00 a.m. until noon.

Continue Real Estate Business

Mayor Studer said he would continue to operate his real estate business at 415 South Lamine avenue. About the only change thus far as a result of a Republican mayor now ruling the affairs of the city is a secretary in the mayor's office. Mrs. Frank Evans, 916 South Vermont avenue, who was formerly employed as a stenographer at the Sedalia Water Company. She has taken over the duties formerly held by Mrs. Joseph S. Quinn, under Mayor Julian H. Bagby's administration.

Mayor Studer said appointments for city jobs will be made at a later date, after they have been discussed with the members of the city council.

Mayor Studer Pledges Every Endeavor For Greater Sedalia

Herb S. Studer, Republican, took over as mayor of Sedalia Monday night, and attending the Council meeting, at which he presided for the first time were his wife, two of his three children, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Studer, and his grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Smith, of Kansas City, Mrs. L. L. Studer's mother.

In accepting the gavel from Julian H. Bagby, Democrat, and retiring mayor, Mayor Studer said:

"Members of the Council, ladies and gentlemen:

"Having taken the oath of the office of mayor of the city of Sedalia, it now becomes my duty to perform the functions of that office. I am indeed grateful for this opportunity of serving the people of Sedalia in this capacity. It is with a deep sense of humility and with an overwhelming desire to render service to my home town that I enter upon the duties of this office.

Stress On Cooperation

"In a city such as ours, the obligation for a successful city government rests upon the mayor and upon the members of the council. I am sure that each of you feel as I do about the responsibilities and opportunities which we have of doing a great service to our city. The law requires certain functions of the city government to be performed by the mayor and others to be performed by the council. It is only through a spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding that we can achieve

City Contracts To Buy Ground

One of the last business transactions of the outgoing Council Monday night, with Mayor Julian H. Bagby presiding, was passing a resolution providing a contract to buy three lots on East Fourth street, in the two hundred block, on the south side of the street, immediately east of the Knights of Columbus building, for the sum of $4,500.

The resolution provides the contract be made between the public buildings and grounds committee and the city clerk and John B. Gage, Kansas City, acting in the matter of the Rice Lehigh properties, owners of the lots. The purpose of the purchase is to use the lots for downtown parking.

Reception For New Members

The First Methodist church, Fourth and Osage, will give a reception to all new members who have been received into church membership during the first six months of the conference year, Wednesday night, April 19, beginning at 6:30. This will be a dinner meeting with new members as guests of the church. A special program is being arranged for this occasion. Sixty-two new members have been received. A special invitation has been extended our guests, and we anticipate our members who have been in the church for a longer period of time will present in the service. It is planned to adjourn in time for any who desire to do so, to go to the special choir program at Smith-Cotton.

good government. The fact that we may bear different political labels should not hinder nor detract from our working together. "I want to assure you gentlemen that it is my sincere desire to work with you in every way possible to achieve a sound constructive program for the benefit and betterment of the city of Sedalia.

Problem On Appointments

"One of our first problems will be the appointment of about one hundred city employees, who will assist us in carrying out the duties of city government. The work of a few of these employees is directly connected with the administrative department of the government and they are directly responsible to the mayor. I will expect to determine who these employees shall be. About eighty-five or ninety of these one hundred employees are as much responsible to the members of the council as they are to the mayor, for that reason I will ask you to suggest the individuals that you wish appointed in these various capacities. Let us remember always in the selection of city employees that our chief concern should be the qualifications of the individual.

"As we gather here tonight, let us remember that as we complete this year and the years to follow that Sedalia is much bigger than any individual or political party. "I hope that we may work in unity and with God's blessings we will do our job well."

COUNCIL Sidelights

For twenty-five minutes of the one-hour session, council and citizens in the packed chamber breathed smoke-fumes from $77,730 of burning cancelled sewer and swimming pool bonds and coupons.

A metal waste basket was utilized as a receptacle for the bond-fire. Councilmen Elmer Sumners, and Emery Ellsworth, and Pete Menefee kept the bond fires burning. The ceremony started at 7:55 p. m. Density of the smoke necessitated raising of windows. When it appeared conclusion of the fire ceremonial could not be hastened, council went back to transacting business on one hand and rubbing eyes with the other. Councilman Vanderkamp raised a window for more air, closed it again later against a chilly draft, then decided to raise it again as the better choice between catching cold, or smothering.

At 8:20 Councilman Menefee left the chamber and brought back with him janitor Archie Booker, who with rag-protected hands lifted the hot wastebasket with the smouldering residue, carrying it out of the council chamber.

Querulous citizens learned that the ceremony of burning bonds must occur in open council session.

Among the visitors was former councilman Dick Keenan, a ready speechmaker on almost any occasion. When asked why he didn't make a speech when the audience was asked for remarks, he replied he came down to relax as one out of circulation politically. But he had one expostulatory observation about burning of the bonds. He said when he was on council he had suggested many times that there ought to be a metal receptacle with a small stove pipe attached which could be stuck out a window so smoke would not fill the council chamber. Since there will be a lot more bond fires on the council agenda, Dick still thinks his idea has merit.

City Democratic Chairman Emmett Sullivan made a gift presentation speech to retiring Mayor Bagby. There was a slip in the drama cue. While Sullivan was speaking, Archie Booker entered the council arena interposing himself between Sullivan and Bagby to place on the desk of Mayor-elect Studer a bouquet of roses from the Republican Women's organization.

The Studer family was present in force. Mary, wife of the mayor, was there with two of her children. "I wanted them to see their daddy inaugurated," she said beaming smiles. Father and Mother L. L. Studer of West Third street, and neighbor Mrs. William Schrader were there; and others across the street.

Mayor Studer's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Smith, of Kansas City, remarked, "I had to come down for the ceremony; I just couldn't miss it. I'm a Democrat, too. Why, when Herb's father was elected mayor out in Osawatimie, Kansas, years ago, I stayed home and bounced Herb on my lap."

Father Studer admired for the first time, the elegantly furnished office provided for Sedalia's mayors. "That's a better set up than I've got out at the Missouri Pacific shops," he remarked, wistfully.

Carrying Target Guns

PASADENA, Calif., April 18—(AP)—An excited caller told police two armed men were "casing" a bank.

A few minutes later officer Joseph Nichols arrested two men near the bank with guns in their hands. But they weren't desperadoes.

They were enroute to a pistol range for target practice. "We were carrying our guns in plain view," they said, "because it is illegal to carry concealed weapons."

Blast Rocks St. Louis Cafeteria

ST. LOUIS, April 18—(AP)—Miss Hurling's cafeteria, one of the largest eating places in St. Louis, was rocked by a bomb explosion late last night.

Twenty-two cafeteria employees were working in the rear of the building, near the scene of the blast, but none was hurt. The cafeteria, which has been picketed by an AFL union since last fall, was closed at the time.

Police were questioning five union officials this morning. The bomb exploded in an alley at the rear of the five-story brick building, wrecking a double door to the cafeteria and shattering windows in the cafeteria and nearby buildings.

The blast, heard as far as a mile away, attracted more than 200 persons from nearby taverns and hotels in the heart of downtown St. Louis.

Police were told that two men were seen near the rear of the building just before the explosion.

Four different unions have tried unsuccessfully to organize employees of the cafeteria, which has a profit-sharing plan for its employees.

Death of Shull Believed Due To Injuries

Reported to Police He Had Been Beaten Up by Some Men

Andrew Franklin Shull, 41 years old, of route 1, Sedalia, died at the Bothwell hospital at 1:05 o'clock this morning.

Shull is believed to have died of injuries received last Saturday night. It was reported by Shull, at police headquarters, that night he had been in a fight at the Rock Inn, on north Highway 65 near Bothwell lodge, however, he did not complain at that time of his injuries, other than he had been beaten up by four or five men.

Monday, a man giving his name as C. R. Ackerman of Smithton, complained to Prosecuting Attorney William F. Brown that he had an altercation with Shull and signed an information for a warrant against Shull. Procedure on the information was held up by Mr. Brown pending the outcome of Shull's condition.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, will conduct an autopsy this afternoon to determine the exact cause of death, and indicated he would also hold an inquest.

Born in County

Shull was born in Pettis county near Green Ridge, July 8, 1908, the son of the late Henry and Annie Carpenter Shull.

He has lived all of his life in Pettis county.

He was married at LaMonte, December 2, 1930 to Miss Mabel Hall, who survives.

He was inducted in the Army March 7, 1944, and was stationed at Camp Hood, Texas, until October 13, 1944, when he was honorably discharged.

Survivors

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Andrew Franklin Shull Jr., 17, and Margaret Fern Shull, 13; three brothers, Robert Shull, Sedalia, Charles Shull, Green Ridge, William Shull, Marshall; four sisters, Mrs. Albert Smith, Kansas City, Mrs. Susie Zeigler, Mrs. O. W. DeLapp, Sedalia, Mrs. John Zimmerman, Marshall; two half-brothers, Ben Shull and Lemuel Shull of Sedalia.

The body is at the Ewing funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

A New Trial For a Sweetheart Murderer

PHILADELPHIA, April 18—(AP)—A 26-year-old native laborer sentenced to death for slaying his sweetheart has been granted a new trial by three federal circuit judges who went to the Virgin Islands to grant him a hearing.

The three jurists—Albert B. Maris, Harry E. Kalodner and Calvin McGruder—yesterday set aside the death sentence pronounced on Leander Pice. The Virgin Islands are under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Third Circuit Court.

Pice was convicted on a murder charge in the slaying of 21-year-old Laurissa Peterson at Christiansted on Jan. 7 because he feared she was planning to leave him for another man.

The court opinion held the evidence did not establish beyond a reasonable doubt that the slaying was a "deliberate and premeditated murder."

Thirty-Sixth Child for 70-Year-Old Bricklayer

AMIENS, France, April 18—(AP)—Paul Demaie, 70, a bricklayer, last night announced the birth of his 36th child. Demaie's first wife died in 1927 after giving birth to 24 children. He married again in 1935.

Changes by Bell Telephone Company

Idea is to Help Service to The Missouri Users

In order to provide more complete supervision over all Southwestern Bell Telephone company activities throughout Missouri with expected resultant benefits in service to telephone users, it was announced today that Harold R. Towles, who has been assistant vice president, has been appointed general manager, with full responsibility for operations for the state of Missouri and headquarters in St. Louis.

Harold R. Towles

The change, which is effective immediately, was announced by President James L. Crump and is in line with a trend toward decentralization of management within the Southwestern system. Some Changes

In conformance with the move, these additional changes were announced: E. N. Widen, who has been general commercial manager for the company, succeeds Warren S. Miller as secretary-treasurer. M. L. Peary, general manager in St. Louis, becomes commercial operations engineer on the staff of operations vice president Edwin L. Clark. J. R. Peterson, general traffic manager for the company and H. R. Fritz, chief engineer, become assistant vice president, reporting to Mr. Clark.

Warren S. Miller becomes general commercial manager for Missouri; R. A. Burnett, traffic superintendent, St. Louis, becomes general traffic manager for Missouri; J. F. Seibert, plant superintendent, St. Louis, becomes general plant manager for Missouri; and G. J. Vande Steeg, engineer, St. Louis, becomes chief engineer for Missouri.

To Keep up With Growth

The reorganization, company officials say, is in recognition of the continued growth of Missouri and the increasing importance it has assumed both to the nation and in the operation of the state's population is estimated now at more than 4,000,000, an all-time high, and there is increasing industrialization as well as continued agricultural development.

Increased responsibility of the telephone company arising out of the state's growth is evident in the expansion which the company has had to undertake to meet telephone needs. Since 1940, the company has almost doubled its plant investment in Missouri, increase amounting to $93,000,000, or 75 per cent. The number of telephones in service has been increased by more than 375,000 over 1940 and the company now serves 852,000 in the state. The number of employees required in Missouri to handle the increased volume of business totaled 12,000 at the end of the year, an increase of 5,200 over 1940, or 78 per cent.

Requirements Not Yet Met

The state's requirements for telephone service have not been fully met, despite the huge expansion program.

Recommendation On Sewer System

Minimum requirements recommended by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company for satisfactory operation of sewerage system, as read to the Council Monday night by John Vandekamp fourth ward alderman:

A sanitary engineer who will be in charge of entire sewerage system—sewers, plants, and storm water ditches.

Each plant should have a day-time operator for each day of the week. It would be advisable to have a telephone at each plant, also the sanitary engineer and each operator to have one in their homes as they will be subject to call at all times.

Maintenance crews of at least two men and one truck—minimum requirements, for operation of sewerage system.

The state board of health is willing to give advice and help at all times. If a training school is provided by the state board of health, one or two men should take advantage of this training.

Landscaping. It is a large investment, and important to have entire sewerage system in perfect operation.

MPSC Plans $2,500,000 Program

Includes New Power Line to Sedalia From Warrensburg

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18—(AP)—Missouri Public Service company is planning a $2,500,000 construction program throughout its western and north central Missouri operating area.

The company asked state public service commission authorization today to issue 20,000 shares of 4% percent preferred stock with a par value of $100 share.

In a companion application the PSC was asked to permit the company to become 100 percent Missouriian.

Now the company, with central offices at Warrensburg, is owned by the Missouri Public Service Corporation, a Delaware company. By the proposal today, however, the corporation would merge with the Warrensburg company, eliminating its present foreign identity.

The utility plans to make these improvements and extensions if state approval is granted:

1. A new gas transmission line from Warrensburg to Clinton at an estimated cost of $472,000.
2. Rehabilitation of the Clinton gas distribution system, $80,000.
3. A new $467,000 gas transmission line from Carrollton to Chillicothe.
4. Rehabilitation of the distribution system in Chillicothe at a cost of $160,000.
5. A $329,000 gas line from Chillicothe to Trenton.
6. Rehabilitation of the Trenton gas system, $105,000.
7. A 300,000 gallon elevated water storage tank at Nevada at an estimated cost of $75,000.
8. A 69,000 volt power line from Warrensburg to Sedalia at a cost of $310,000.
9. General repairs and extensions to electric power lines during the rest of this year at an estimated cost of $450,000.

New York's "Street Minute Men" Fighting a Two-Front War

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—New York's Irish minute men are now fighting a two-front war against the British.

For the last two weeks they have been picketing Sir Basil Brooke, visiting Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, demanding that the British get out of Ulster.

But Sir Basil's picket line was much smaller last night. The pickets explained: "We divided up. The others are over picketing the British auto show."

Letter Mailed in Year 1927 Delivered Recently in Sedalia

The spirit of Christmas, of the year 1927, descended upon Mr. and Mrs. James Fear, 510 East Eleventh street, when an aged, darkened Christmas card in a sealed envelope, postmarked December 20, 1927 was recently delivered to them.

The letter, which was mailed by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Peterman and family of Muskogee to Mr. and Mrs. Fear, who were then living in Okmulgee, Okla., was found in the Muskogee postoffice last March, when a letter case was moved, apparently for the first time in 23 years. Mrs. Fear said the Petermans were neighbors when they lived in Muskogee, and further related that Mr. Peterman was dead, and she thought that Mrs. Peterman might be dead, as they were an elderly couple in 1926.

When newspapers in Oklahoma wrote an article saying postoffice employees in Muskogee were trying to locate Mr. and Mrs. James Fear to deliver a Christmas card mailed in 1927, addressed only to the Fears, Okmulgee, Okla., Mrs. F. W. Puckett of Tulsa, Okla., saw the clipping in the paper and supplied the postoffice in Muskogee, the address of the Fears Mrs. Puckett has been a friend of the Fears for over 25 years.

Letter to Postmaster

When the postoffice at Muskogee received notification from Mrs. Puckett, the assistant postmaster at Muskogee wrote the following letter to the postmaster at Okmulgee, Okla.:

"I am enclosing herewith a letter addressed to Mr. and Mrs. James Fear, Okmulgee, Okla., which bears postmark of this office of December 20, 1927 in discharging a wing letter case of this (Please turn to Page 3, Column 3)

Russian Fighters Charged

With Shooting Down An American Plane Over Baltic Sea; Formal Note Sent

By Edward E. Bomar

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The United States formally charged today that Russian fighters shot down an unarmed American plane over the open Baltic sea.

In a note to Russia warning against any repetition "under whatever pretext," the American government demanded an apology, punishment of the "Red aviators" and "appropriate indemnity" for the loss of the plane and the 10 Americans aboard it.

The plane in question is the navy plane which has been missing in the Baltic area since April 8.

The United States said its destruction in violation "of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations" is the truth behind Moscow's story last week of an American-Soviet plane clash over Latvia.

No Survivors

No survivors of the navy patrol plane have been found. A life raft, believed to have come from it, was picked up. The pockets of the raft had been opened—a possible indication that someone was aboard it after it was in the water.

The note to Moscow was couched in the customary diplomatic language. But a statement made by a State Department spokesman simultaneously with publication of the note hit at Russia's conduct in the most vigorous kind of language.

Michael McDermott, press officer, lashed at Moscow's lack of concern over the fate of the plane, at its "aggressive tone" and at its "false propaganda claims and diatribes." He added: "This attitude of the Soviet government shows clearly the insincerity of its oft-proclaimed desire for peaceful relations with the United States and the non-Soviet world in general."

No Hint of Amount

There was no official hint as to what indemnity the United States might consider to be proper payment for the loss of the plane. But in a case with some similar aspects Yugoslavia paid $

Loyalty Board Found Legal

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—U. S. Court of Appeals Monday reaffirmed its ruling that government loyalty board procedures are constitutional. At the same time, in a 2-1 decision, it rejects claims by 28 post office department employees that they were victims of racial and religious discriminations and of decisions, based "solely" on guilt by association. The group includes 12 Negroes and eight Jews from Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, New York City and Plainfield, N. J. The 28 brought a civil suit in district court here after receiving loyalty board "notices of proposed removal action." The notices said the board had found reasonable grounds for belief that they were disloyal to the United States. They were in various stages of the investigative procedure when they sued. Some had had hearings, some had been suspended, and some had not reached either

District Judge Alexander Holtz—held constitutionality of the procedure. They appealed from that lower court and specifically up-ruling.

Carroll Heads Pimbley Store

John E. Carroll has been promoted to manager of Pimbley Paint and Glass Co., Sedalia store, R. J. Wilson, president has announced.

John E. Carroll

Mr. Carroll has been associated as a salesman with Pimbley Paint and Glass Co., since March 1947, and will assume his new duties immediately, Wilson said.

After attending high school at LaMonte, Carroll entered Missouri Valley college at Marshall. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps as a Private in 1942, participated in four major European campaigns as transport pilot, being discharged in 1946 as a captain. As a pilot Carroll towed gliders, dropped paratroopers, supplies and aided in air evacuation.

Mr. Carroll is married, has one son. They reside at 1815 South Barrett avenue in this city. He also owns and operates a farm south of LaMonte, where he raises pure bred Angus cattle.

More Correspondence
The postmaster in turn wrote the following correspondence to the Sedalia postmaster, dated March 11, 1950:

"Enclosed you will find a letter addressed to Mr. and Mrs. James Fear, Okmulgee, Okla., which bears the postmark of the Muskogee office under date of December 20, 1927, together with a letter of explanation which came to us with this piece of mail.

"Mrs. F. W. Puckett, 2323 East Thirteenth street, Tulsa, Okla., advises that Mr. and Mrs. Fear now live at 510 East Eleventh street in your city, so perhaps you can make delivery of this letter. Better late than never, I've always heard. We'll see!

"Sincerely Yours,
"H. B. Toskett,
"Postmaster."

Finally Delivered

The Christmas card, together with all the above correspondence was delivered to the Fear's home by post-carrier, William C. Faulkner on March 13. Faulkner was quoted as saying when he handed the correspondence to Mrs. Fear, "The postmaster wanted to know if you had lost confidence in the U. S. Postoffice."

Mrs. Fear said prior to receiving the ancient letter, Mrs. Puckett wrote her and told her she would receive an old letter. Mrs. Fear said, "She was just dying to know who it was from."

Mrs. Fear said she received a newspaper clipping from Mr. Fear's brother, W. H. Fear in Ventura, Calif., the Fear's son, James B. Fear, and her father, B. F. Pollock, and countless friends, after she had already received the correspondence, telling her they had seen the news item in various papers.

The Fears came to Sedalia in the fall of 1948 from Abilene, Kas. Mr. Fear is manager of the Montgomery and Ward farm store in Sedalia.

Iran, Key to Near East, Veers Toward Russia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Despite the red carpet rolled out for the likable young Shah of Iran during his lengthy visit to the U.S.A., alarming diplomatic dispatches from the Near East indicate that Russia is getting closer to taking over his vital, oil-rich country.

Able U.S. Ambassador John Wiley has been cabling the State Department for weeks that Moscow is making tremendous progress in Iran. Its weapons are largely beyond control of the United States—political and economic turmoil growing out of a crop failure, business panic and government graft. These are bringing new members to the noisy Tudeh, or pro-Communist party, which is being edged on by Russian radio transmitters across the border.

The Shah, who made a big hit during his American visit, returned to announce "a holy war against corruption." However, this got him in wrong with wily politicians around the throne who now would be glad to dump him and play ball with Russia—provided they weren't afraid of being purged later by the Communists. Meanwhile, secret talks are taking place in Moscow on economic aid to Iran.

The crisis is moving so rapidly that diplomatic cables indicate the Shah has prepared a proclamation dissolving parliament and revamping his government.

Presidential Poker

When government notables slip into the White House or aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg after dark, it isn't always to discuss problems of state but more often to play poker.

In fact, few White House sessions are more secret than the President's poker parties. He invites only the most intimate friends to sit at his poker table, usually eight at a time. There they see Truman's most sociable side, for he is full of mischief during a poker evening.

The President deals left-handed, loves to taunt anyone needing a particular card. When dealing, if he has dropped out of play, he will peek mischievously at the card before dealing, then slap it down and chuckle gleefully if it's the wrong card. Sometimes he takes a poll of what his guests want to play, then deals something else.

Truman enjoys playing with wild cards, particularly with the low hole-card wild. He is also fond of a game he calls "Papa Vinson," named in honor of Chief Justice Fred Vinson. This is ordinary stud, played with an extra draw. Another Truman favorite is regular seven-card stud, which he has dubbed "Jack Garner" in honor of the former vice president who made a fortune playing poker.

Fair Deal for Losers

The President likes to play for fun, gets no kick out of letting the stakes run high and the game get grim. Sometimes at Key West recently the stakes were around $400. To take care of losers, Truman taxes 5 to 10 per cent of each stake which is paid into a special kitty; and when a losing player goes broke, he is entitled to a free grant from the kitty. At the end of the game, the kitty is divided equally among all players.

Most presidential poker sessions are held on the Williamsburg after dark. The President doesn't let them drag much past midnight, however, because he is an early riser.

When the poker chips are flying and the bourbon flowing, the President forgets his burdens, and for a few hours becomes just plain Harry again.

NOTE—The three friends most frequently called up for presidential poker games are Chief Justice Vinson; Clark Clifford, the ex-White House aide, and George Allen, the ex-White House jester. The President takes particular delight in beating Allen, chuckles merrily at Allen's poker luck.

Chilean Communism vs. Copper

Chief stumbling-block in the path of friendship-of-the-U.S.A. President Gonzalez Videla of Chile during his trip to the United States is a quiet, efficient Senator from Arizona, Carl Hayden.

The highly respected Hayden works hard, speaks little, generally votes for the little fellow. But he also represents the great copper state of Arizona, where one company is especially anxious to have the 2-cents-per-pound excise tax on copper imports reinstated. This tax, amounting to a tariff against Chilean copper, will automatically go into effect June 30 unless Congress rules otherwise, and Senator Hayden probably has the power to say yes or no.

Other big companies—Anaconda and Kennecott—are less interested in the excise tax because they import from Chile as well as mining copper in the U.S. But Phelps-Dodge mines in the U.S. are interested.

This indirectly involves the State Department's No. 1 ambassador, Lewis Douglas, envoy to London, whose Canadian family founded Phelps-Dodge. It also raises the question as to whether the State Department could work a "play"—Douglas to Phelps-Dodge to Senator Hayden in order to head off the copper tax in Chile.

Anyway, one point both the State Department and President Gonzalez Videla agree on is that Chile is going to be a lot more difficult to do business with if copper exports to the U.S. are curtailed and miners are out of work.

As in Iran, there is nothing that breeds Communism like unemployment.

NOTE—Ex-Senator John Danaher of Connecticut, key hatchet man for the Republican national committee, was once a relentless high tariff man, but now is on the other side of the fence. He opposes Senator Hayden of Arizona and wants untaxed Chilean copper. Reason: Connecticut industries using copper retained him to lobby against the copper excise tax.

New Democrats

The Democratic party is busy doing missionary work among the 137,000 former aliens who have been sworn in as citizens since the last election and will vote for the first time this year.

Word has been sent to all Democratic state chairmen to compile a list of these naturalized citizens and make Democrats of them before November.

In many congressional districts, they might easily become the balance of power. For example, New York has 46,500 newly naturalized citizens, California 18,500; Massachusetts, 9,600; New Jersey, 7,500; Michigan, 7,000; Illinois, 6,500; Pennsylvania 5,500; and Ohio, 4,000. Even little Connecticut has 4,000 and Florida 2,000 former aliens who can now vote. What makes their votes count is that they are congregated in one or two congressional districts in each state.

This is the reason the Democratic party is working so hard to convert them.

Growing States Deserve Fair Share of Congressional Seats

By Bruce Blossat

Since the first census in 1790, the 10-year nose counting has become such a broad statistical survey that its basic purpose gets obscured. That aim, of course, is to furnish data on which to base changes in congressional representation for the 48 states.

As states grow, hold even or lose population, the U. S. House of Representatives is supposed to reflect their shift in relative position. Each state's membership should be in proportion to its population strength.

After recent decennial censuses, the required changes haven't been made without cries of pain. For the total House membership has been kept at 435, assuring that gains by some states will mean losses in others. No congressman likes to see his district wiped off the map or his state reduced in congressional power.

In the past, many in the House have often resisted the necessary re-apportioning of seats. But eventually the lawmakers authorized the changes and brought the lineup up to date.

The present arrangement is a little different. The carrying out of the new appointment is not wholly dependent on House action. If the House fails to endorse it, then automatic procedure comes into play and all states are formerly notified of the changes they must make.

The official figures this time won't affect 1950 election lineups. But they are expected to be translated into a new distribution by 1952, the next presidential year.

It will be a great surprise if the usual resistance does not show itself. Because of the substantial growth in national population, there may be more than usual effort toward increasing total House membership so the less fortunate states won't lose their existing number of seats.

The prospective gains of California are enough to stir a fight. In the last decade it has added more than 3,000,000 people and now boasts some 10,000,000. It has surpassed Pennsylvania to become the nation's second most populous state.

All this could mean 10 more House seats in 1952. For example, California now has 23 against 33 for Pennsylvania. If California is to make such a leap, its gains can only come out of the hide of New York, Pennsylvania and other states which have either grown less rapidly, stood still, or actually lost population.

The entrenched delegations of the powerful eastern states might form the core of the expected resistance, and perhaps lead a battle for higher total House membership.

Whether rising national population justifies the latter course is something to argue. But there can be no doubt that any new seating formula must properly reflect the new distribution of population strength in the country. Any effort to preserve the status quo and deny growing regions their deservedly greater place in the congressional sun ought to be thoroughly squelched.

Going Hollywood?

A recent picture of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating Senator McCarthy's Communist charges showed Senator Lodge of Massachusetts wearing dark glasses. He was shielding his eyes from the glare of newsreel and television lights.

As television widens its coverage of public affairs, dark glasses may become standard equipment for our statesmen. Let's hope, however, that they don't move from that to the wearing of sport shirts with bright-colored scarves. Otherwise Capitol Hill may begin to look like Hollywood with Greek columns.

NEGATIVISM AND INFERIORITY ATTITUDES

We come now to the sixth outstanding enemy of human living. Negativism and inferiority attitudes. One is almost tempted to put this down as Enemy Number One. The probabilities are that Fear is Enemy Number One. But as negativism and inferiority attitudes are closely allied to fear, we may put this down as Enemy Number Two.

This enemy is all the more dangerous because it is often manifested as its opposite—superiority attitudes. One who is not sure of himself talks loud, boasts, swaggers, to impress others, and tries to bolster up himself with outward show. "I am coming to see you in a Cadillac," phoned a friend of long ago. He had wasted his great possibilities, and so tried to make himself big by talking "Cadillac" instead of "Ford." Jesus saw small men trying to be big; so He said, "Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?" We try to add cubits to our stature by taking thought of outer decorations to make up for inner inferiorities. A sign on a livestock market appealed to this underlying psychology by saying, "Call Attention Through Cattle." Small men, who could not call the attention of others to themselves because of what they are inherently or because of what they have accomplished, could gather the attention of people through being associated with fine cattle. Standing on a steer's back to appear taller! A feat which, to say the least, is precarious, for the steer might pull out from under you and let you down—perhaps with a ridiculous bump! That is what usually happens, for those who try to appear great end in being ridiculous. A psychologist says that "there are a million chances to one that those who claim superiority are unpopular." They defeat their own purpose. "He that saveth his life" by concentrating on it, dressing it up to appear bigger than it is, is bound to defeat his own purpose—in the worlds of Jesus, he "loses it." Superiority attitudes and delusions of grandeur are the reverse side of an inferiority complex. Shun superficial superiorities as you would shun the devil, for they are much the same.

O God, I want to be what I am without any sham. But I want to be more: I want to be the man Thou dost intend me to be. Then I shall stand with simplicity and dignity in Thy will and purpose. For everything in Thy will is great—perhaps I shall be great, too, if I stay in Thy will. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Says—
Epidemic Diarrhea of Infants
Must be Quickly Controlled

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

At intervals during recent years there have been serious outbreaks of a highly fatal diarrhea in newborn infants which has caused great trouble to the nurseries of maternity hospitals. Attempts to find the cause have not been particularly successful.

The probabilities are that epidemic diarrhea of infants is due to a virus which has not yet been isolated and which is too small to see by ordinary means, although germs are a possibility.

As a rule the infant who is stricken appears to be healthy and thriving; suddenly the child becomes drowsy and if awakened makes a short weak cry. The temperature is not unusually high, generally being below 100.

At about the same time or within a few hours, the baby begins to have a loose, watery, yellowish bowel movements, without any obvious mucus, blood or pus. And these watery movements come more and more frequently.

Especially alarming is the loss of weight in these small infants, which may be as much as pound within the first day. (This is sometimes one-sixth of the total weight.)

After a short time the baby no longer looks healthy but shows

THE STORY: Clemency Norton is a young governess to the small daughter of Jon and Sybil Amberley who live in the desert home of Piers Amberley. Jon's brother in North Africa, Clemency already has felt Sybil's jealousy for her brother-in-law and she has tried to avoid him. On her first day off, Clemency visits the Algerian town of Biskra and meets young Mr. Sanderson, whose mother and sister she had met previously.

XIII

WHEN they reached the hotel, Jeanette Sanderson was standing at the top of the steps. She ran down them to meet her brother. "Hamish, you wretch! We'll be rightfully late—" she broke off, seeing Clemency.

"You know Miss Norton," said Hamish. "I found her wandering about Biskra all on her own—she'll explain, and I ventured to offer myself as an escort."

His sister gave him an amused look. "Kind of you." She shook hands warmly with Clemency. "I'm so glad he found you. Mum—my was thinking of writing and suggesting that if you were at a loose end you should come and see us sometime." And as her mother appeared "Mum—my—here's Miss Norton."

They were the friendliest and most charming family. Discovering that Clemency was alone and had nothing to do with her afternoon—for it would have been much too hot to walk about for the next few hours—Mrs. Sanderson swept her into their car and back to their villa for the rest of the day, leaving word at the hotel where she could be found.

Lieutenant Le Blois dropped in to tea, and from the way he annexed Janette it was clear where his admiration lay.

While the others swam, Mrs. Sanderson talked to Clemency. "I have known the Amberleys boys since they were children. And then after I married and my husband and I spent part of the year here, I saw a fair amount of Piers when he came to stay with his cousin—the one who bought Red Aloes from the Caid whose property it originally was. Piers ought not to have rented his Sussex property, but—he preferred to leave England."

"He loves Red Aloes," "Yes. There are certain people the desert calls; but as I tell him, he ought to have spent part of his time in Britain. However—" she broke off with a sigh, and added after a moment: "Piers is an extremely fine person. I am very fond of him."

Clemency said: "He is—he can be very kind."

THEY were watching the swimmers, and her companion gave her a quick, shrewd look. A charming girl if only—

The shadows lengthened towards sunset, and presently Hamish came strolling back. "It's going to be a pretty sunset. We don't always get them, you know. Miss Norton, you've been exceptionally lucky today—not even Biskra's special wind to spoil things. Shall we go up on the roof and look at it?—the sunset, I mean."

"I'd like to. But— isn't it about time the car came for me? They would tell Jules where to come—"

"Here's a car now," Hamish turned his head listening. "But you can see the sunset before you go."

"Of course. Tell the man to wait," said Mrs. Sanderson. But as he turned to go into the house, a servant appeared on the threshold.

"The Sidi Amberley," he announced. "Hello, Aunt Blanche," said Piers in his cool, charming voice. "I had to come to Biskra, so I thought I would collect Miss Norton."

"Piers! How nice!" Mrs. Sanderson rose quickly, laying her hands on his shoulders. "You are an unexpected guest."

"Matter of fact," he said, "I came in to meet Jon—but I seem to have missed him altogether. Laraine at the hotel said he went off with a couple of French officers—they are probably giving him a lift back. I heard that Miss Norton was here, so I drove along to collect her."

André le Blois had joined them now, and seeing Piers as he stood in the midst of the little group of gay young people, Clemency felt that she was glimpsing yet another personality in him. He seemed altogether younger, less constrained. And he was very attractive to look at.

"If we are going to watch the sunset we had better go, Miss Norton," observed Hamish. She hesitated. "Perhaps Colonel Amberley wants to get away?"

"No. Let us see the sunset by all means," said Piers.

PERHAPS that was not exactly what Hamish had meant, but soon they had all climbed to the flat roof and were looking towards the West where the sun was disappearing in superb splendor, leaving the sky splashed with streaks of many hues.

"Hollywood never did anything better," murmured Hamish, leaning on the low parapet beside Clemency.

"Don't they wish they could get anywhere near it—it takes a great artist to produce a sunset," observed Piers a little dryly. "Well, now the show's over I think we'd better go."

The Sandersons did their best to persuade them to stay to dinner, but guessing that he did not want to, Clemency settled the matter by saying that she must get back to Baba.

"You'll come again soon, Clemency?" Janette asked. "While I'm all for Man—in the plural about the place, I do find there's a desperate shortage of girls of my own age in this part of the world. Anyway, the kind I feel at home with," she added. "I don't suppose that you find Sybil Amberley exactly sympathetic."

"Mrs. Amberley has her own friends, and she didn't engage me as a companion," replied Clemency.

Janette grinned; but she liked the other girl all the better for not taking the cue.

Shame on Mothers Who Lie
To Help Their Offspring

Yesterday four teen-agers at a bethune me in a drugstore booth. Their young voices carried clearly. They were discussing their mothers with both pride and affection.

Each one was trying to prove to the others what a good sport her mother was. "My mother's my best lar"—the first girl remarked with evident pride.

"I can always count on her to fix up a story that will get me out of a jam—even with Dad."

Not to be outdone, each teen-ager took a turn, proving by some recent anecdote just what a good scout, or in more blunt terms, what a willing liar her mother was.

It was one of the most shocking things I've ever heard. Mothers lying to boy friends to help a daughter keep them guessing. A mother lying to a father, so that he wouldn't know his teen-age daughter had come in drunk after a high school dance. And so on.

What Price Affection?

I dare say each of the mothers discussed loves her daughter with devotion. But what price they are paying to shine as "good sports" in their daughters' eyes.

I kept hoping just one girl would pipe up and say: "My mother certainly wouldn't tell a lie for me!" But not one did.

How can those mothers ever hope that their daughter will tell the truth when a lie is a little easier, a little more expedient?

And I wonder, too, how the mother who is trying so hard to accept by her daughter as a good sport would feel if she could hear her daughter sum up the relationship in these words: "My mother is my best lar."

Forty Years Ago

John Sneed, Gordon Lamm and George F. Rudy, residing near Smithton, brought to the judges

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, April 18—(P)—It is very hard to sell a visiting rabbit on the wonders of the big city.

Yes, that's right — a rabbit. I tried over the week-end. I gave a tour of the town to Pete, a ten and a half pound white rabbit from Minneapolis. And while I've met a lot of blase things in fur here, I never saw anyone quite as nonchalant as Pete. He preferred a carrot to the Empire State building.

Pete's trip here came as a reward. For two weeks before Easter he toured Minnesota raising funds for crippled children. He did such a fine job that his boss, Al Smalley of St. Paul, a jeepmate of mine in war days, decided to send him to Manhattan. I got the assignment to be his escort.

Sired 1,000 Rabbits
"Personally, I believe that Pete would enjoy living in New York," Smalley wrote. "He has sired 1,000 rabbits conservatively speaking."

Pete arrived a week ago as a hitch-hopping guest of Northwest Airlines. He came in a comfortable cage that bore a sign saying "Don't use the word 'hasenpfeffer' in his presence—it frightens him." Hasenpfeffer is German for "stewed rabbit."

Boredly accepting some food pellets, Pete kept looking around to see why Grover Whalen wasn't on hand to greet him. Then he was taken to a pet shop to rest up for a few days from his air voyage.

Figuring he was a Saturday night rabbit, I waited until that evening to show him the city. We went by cab and the driver kept looking back at Pete nervously and asking:

"What is it?"

Startled by Park Avenue

Pete was startled by Park avenue. He took one gander out at all the fur-covered ladies and then crouched down in his cage. He apparently thought he was in the midst of a forest of minks.

Crossing Fifth avenue he yawned. He yawned again as we went through Times Square. Pete looked a little homesick as we passed a small green park. Suddenly his pink eyes popped open in interest — we were going by a supermarket and its window was full of vegetables.

I dropped by to show Pete to the three-year-old son of a friend and the city-born boy's eyes kindled in wonder. It was the first time he had ever seen a rabbit.

"Hello, Bunny. Hello, Bunny," he said lovingly, over and over, as he fed Pete some watercress. When we had to leave, the little boy looked up and said "Now let's all go see a lion."

The Next Call
Our next call was a Greenwich Village apartment. And Pete was the life of the party. Glad to be out of his cage, he hopped about, nuzzling people.

Then Lou Grumwich, the wife of our host, played some tunes on her new zither. Pete, as befitted the first rabbit in modern history to be given a zither concert, listened intently. He was all ears. His pink eyes reddened in appreciation as she played his favorite tune, "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

After a hearty vegetarian supper, Pete went home about midnight — rather reluctantly. He wanted to stay up all night — an effect Greenwich Village has on people as well as rabbits.

The problem then was, "What to do with Pete?" The management doesn't allow pets in our apartment. I tried to find him a nice home, but you'd be surprised how few people in Manhattan want a rabbit.

It Takes a Heap of Thinkin'

Off to France

Finally, Ted Alexander, an office boy, said, "I'd sure like to send Pete to my sister — she'd love to have him."

"Where does she live?"

"In Paris, Paris, France." Well, I called up a pal at American Overseas Airlines and told him our problem.

"Bring Pete down," he said. "We'll see he gets a good comfortable ride over."

And so Pete, the flying goodwill bunny, is off by air as Minnesota's first four-footed ambassador to France.

But Pete has traveled so much already he's getting mighty sophisticated. The French are going to have to hank the Eiffel Tower with lettuce if they want to impress him.

Chives, an onion-like green, may be raised the year round in flower pots just like any other house plant.

Ex-Convict Dies In a Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 18—(P)—A man who was killed as he fled a holdup here April 7 has been identified as Alan Watson, an ex-convict from Jefferson City, Mo.

Watson was identified by his sister, Mrs. Alvis Munholland of San Francisco, who said he was committed to the Missouri state penitentiary in 1933 for highway robbery.

Watson, 36, was shot as he fled from a grocery store holdup.

Records at Missouri penitentiary showed Watson was sentenced to Alcoa intermediate reformatory in 1933 for a five year term on a Jackson county robbery conviction.

He escaped from Alcoa and while free was convicted of second degree murder in Cole county and sentenced to another 20 years. He was sent to the Fulton state hospital as criminally insane in 1942, but later was returned to the prison, where he was discharged Nov. 3, 1948.

Princess Expects Child This Summer

LONDON, April 18—(P)—Buckingham palace announced Monday that Princess Elizabeth is cancelling all further public engagements—an indication she is expecting her second child this summer.

A similar announcement came from Buckingham palace prior to the birth of Prince Charles in November, 1948.

The expected baby will be the third in succession to the throne. Princess Elizabeth is heiress-presumptive. Prince Charles is next in line. The princess will be 24 years old next Friday.

Currently the princess is visiting her husband, Prince Philip, on the island of Malta where he is on duty with the Mediterranean fleet.

A hawk high in the air has such unusual sight that it can detect a mouse in the grass.

Refused to Upset System

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—Over the bitter protests of two justices, the Supreme Court refused Monday to upset Georgia's county unit election system.

Without disputing a lower court's finding that the system gives rural white-supremacy areas of the state a louder voice than the cities with their Negro and organized labor voting blocs, the seven-man majority said simply the high court cannot intervene.

But Justice Douglas, in a stinging dissent concurred in by Justice Black, called the Georgia set-up the "last loophole" around previous decisions that "there must be no discrimination because of race in primary as well as in general elections."

The 33 year old Georgia law in question is patterned somewhat after the national electoral college, giving each county from two to six election units. It applies only in the primary, but in Georgia the Democratic primary is the only real contest.

Actually, what the tribunal did today was to affirm a lower court decision which had had the effect of upholding the legality of the Georgia system.

Douglas' dissent was his first opinion since his return to the bench after long recuperation from a riding accident last October.

The majority opinion was unsigned. And only Douglas and Black dissented.

50,000 Miles - No Wear!

1. Punishing 50,000 Mile Test! To put sensational new Conoco Super Motor Oil to one of the most punishing tests ever tried, six brand-new cars were driven over the blistering desert along the Mexican border... 14 hours a day for 70 days. After 50,000 miles of continuous driving, engines showed no wear of any consequence... in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts! Amazing proof: original factory grinding marks were still visible on piston rings!

2. Keeps Your New Car New! This amazing road test—the equivalent of 5 years' normal mileage—proved that Conoco Super Motor Oil—with proper crankcase drains and regular care—can keep your new car new! Even the gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles of the run was as good as for the first 5,000 miles—actually there was an average difference for the fleet of only 4/100 of a mile per gallon!

3. New-Car Power! Quicker Starts! Yes—Conoco Super Motor Oil's extra protection keeps that factory flash... that showroom smoothness... year after year! Conoco Super Motor Oil OIL-PLATES metal surfaces to make your engine last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil! Conoco Super Motor Oil virtually stops wear before it starts... keeps your engine new and clean! Conoco Super Motor Oil has proved itself to be the great new modern wear-fighter.

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
 Secretary General Trygve Lie of the United Nations is considering the idea of visiting Marshal Stalin in Moscow in an effort to get Russia and her satellites to resume normal relations with the now ham-strung peace organization.

This is a part of the secretary general's save-the-U.N. campaign and so may be viewed in a different light than previous proposals for peace-appeals to Moscow. Most of the former suggestions involved officials of various western governments and immediately evoked cries of "appeasement."

However, Mr. Trygve Lie is in a unique position. As secretary general of the U. N. he is a servant of all nations. He is in effect a "citizen of the world" whose job is to act as moderator in the effort of welding all countries together.

As a matter of fact, if the secretary general does carry his plea to Moscow, it will tend to put the Soviet Union on a spot where it may have to declare itself either for or against peace. Previous approaches by western statesmen have failed because of the very fact that they were western statesmen and therefore could be viewed by the Kremlin as having axes to grind.

The secretary general is sailing for Europe next Saturday on what will be the most important mission he has undertaken since he became head of the U. N. four years ago. He expects to confer with British Secretary of State Bevin in London and with French Foreign Minister Schuman in Paris and then may head for Moscow.

There have of course been innumerable issues over which Russia and the western powers have clashed in the U. N. One of the hottest revolves about the continued membership of Nationalist China. The Soviet representatives and their satellites have been demanding that the Nationalists be thrown out and that the Chinese Communist government be given the membership in view of its military victory over the Nationalists.

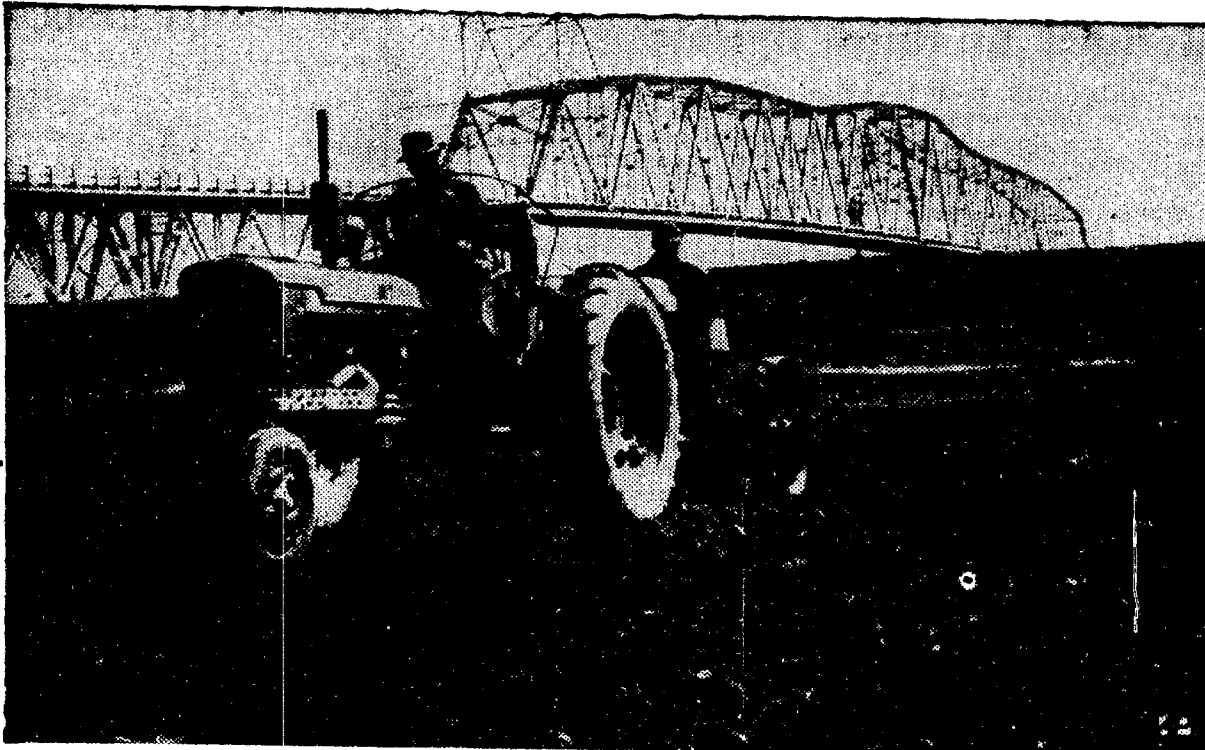

The fight has got so bitter that Russia now is boycotting 20 U. N. organizations. Lie himself has been campaigning for the seating of the Chinese Communists, contending that this is the "common sense" as well as the legalistic approach.

Mr. Lie maintains that the U. N. membership should go to the government that controls the majority of the people and the land mass. He wants the Red Chinese seated right away in order to bring the Russians back.

In this connection it's interesting to note that Republican adviser John Foster Dulles also maintains in a new book that the Red Chinese government should be admitted to the U. N. if the regime "in fact proves its ability to govern China without serious domestic resistance." However, Dulles doesn't think the Reds can demonstrate this ability to rule China.

One would think that the neutral head of the peace organization would be able to win Moscow over if anyone could. So if the secretary general makes the trip to Moscow, his progress will be watched with intense interest the world over. But perhaps we shouldn't be heavily optimistic over the outcome.

If the Chinese Communist government were seated in the U. N., it wouldn't be surprising if Moscow reciprocated by dropping the boycotts, or some of them. However, you and I know that Moscow is working on a thoroughly prepared and long range program for communicating the world. The Red leaders may deviate from that program slightly for the sake of expedience at times, but we may be sure that they are not going to abandon their world offensive until they either succeed or come up against a stone wall.

So we wish Secretary General Lie success — and keep our fingers crossed for him. If he achieves anything at all, why, part of a loaf is better than no bread at all.

Magical Drink For The Ease Of Heart Pains

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor
 BOSTON, April 18—(AP)—The magic drink of water made by atomic energy is relieving heart pains, shortness of breath and tired feelings.

The report on this new medical step was made at the opening session of the American College of physicians today by doctors Herman L. Blumgart, A. Stone Freedberg and George S. Kurland, of Beth Israel hospital and Harvard Medical School.

The magic drink is radioactive iodine in water. The amount of iodine is so small as to be almost tasteless, but some patients say it tastes like nectar to them.

The drink was given to 22 patients with either angina pectoris or congestive heart failure. All were complete invalids. Four returned to work and a number of others began again to enjoy life at home.

The iodine does not go near the heart, but enters the thyroid gland and there the radioactive rays destroy part of the gland. They destroy as much as the doctor wants. He regulates the amount by how much hot iodine he puts in the water.

The result of the thyroid destruction is to cut down production in that gland of the body's energy hormone, thyroxin. The sick hearts there upon do not work as hard.

The stabbing pains of angina pectoris, one of the worst known forms of human agony, were strikingly relieved in about one-third of these cases.

Congestive heart failure causes shortness of breath, swelling ankles and tired feelings. These troubles also nearly disappeared in some of the patients.

Altogether two-thirds of the heart sufferers got better and one-third received no benefit.

Radioactive iodine is made at Oak Ridge Tennessee by transmutation of a sulfur-like chemical, tellurium, in the atomic ovens. It is also made at the Argonne laboratory, Chicago, where it comes from splitting uranium atoms. Iodine is one of the new atoms formed in these splits.

Bill For Huge Sum Passed On Waterways

Senate Votes Its Approval In Sum Of $1,840,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—The Senate Monday night passed a $1,840,000,000 waterways authorization bill after beating all attempts by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) to reduce the total. The vote on passage was 59 to 19.

Action by the Senate, after more than a week of debate, sends the bill to a conference with the House, which passed the bill last summer when it called for only $1,332,743,825 worth of projects.

The authorization bill appropriates no money. It paves the way for future appropriations for construction work on scores of new flood control and river and harbors projects and for additional work on major comprehensive programs now under way.

Douglas waged a virtual single-handed legislative battle to cut the bill.

He offered nearly 20 amendments designed to eliminate more than $800,000,000 in authorizations. The Senate rejected every amendment he offered.

As approved by the Senate, the bill would authorize flood control projects costing $1,364,500,200 and rivers and harbors work to cost $228,373,125.

Some For Reclamation
An additional $200,000,000 monetary authorization is provided for reclamation projects in the Missouri river basin.

Other items include $19,000,000 for agriculture department watershed improvement projects, $15,000,000 for emergency use and $20,000,000 for surveys, $1,500,000 for power surveys by the federal power commission and for agriculture department use in the watershed of the Santa Ynez river in California.

The Senate public works committee added approximately $476,000,000 to the House bill and its additions were accepted by the Senate.

The House bill included some $998,116,200 for flood control projects and $119,469,975 for rivers and harbors.

The Senate, which previously had rejected 13 moves by Douglas to eliminate projects costing a total of nearly $200,000,000, turned him down flatly today in attempts to toss out huge authorizations for some of the major rivers.

Douglas' amendments would have eliminated $200,000,000 for the lower Mississippi, $250,000,000 for the Missouri river basin, $100,000,000 for the Ohio river, and $89,000,000 for the Arkansas.

$200,000 Fire In Arkansas

CLARKSVILLE, Ark., April 18—(P)—A section of the business district in this Ozarks college town was razed by a spectacular fire Monday afternoon.

The same section was destroyed by fire 49 years ago, said Sheriff Lloyd Yarbrough.

Today's fire destroyed the Arlington hotel building, a two-story structure, occupying a fourth of a block on the courthouse square and seven business firms. The hotel occupied the second floor, the business firms the ground floor.

Sheriff Yarbrough estimated the loss at around $200,000. He said origin of the fire has not been determined.

No one was hurt, although several fire-fighters suffered abrasions and bruises.

The main highway from Little Rock, 100 miles southeast of here, to Fort Smith passes by the building and traffic had to be detoured. The sheriff said he thought the street could be opened late tonight.

Business firms destroyed included the Johnson county weekly Graphic Newspaper plant, an insurance agency, two pool halls, a beauty shop, cafeteria and men's clothing store.

Final Concert For Symphony

The Sedalia Symphony orchestra with conductor, Abe Rosenthal will close its fifteenth season Monday night April 24th in the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium. The guest artists that will appear with the symphony will be the Nettleton Twins, duo piano team of Kansas City.

Jeanne and Joanne Nettleton are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Nettleton of Topeka, Kas. Their careers in music began at the age of five. Their studies in Topeka were with Mrs. Floyd Flanagan and when they went to Kansas City, in 1948 they studied at the Kansas City conservatory.

The twins will be well remembered here by the members of the Helen G. Steele Music club since they appeared here on March 10th 1948 at the Heard Memorial club house, in a recital.

The concert will start promptly at 8:20 o'clock.

A group of musicians from C. M. S. C. at Warrensburg were in the regular rehearsal of the orchestra Monday night at Smith-Cotton's music room.

Abe Rosenthal, announced that the orchestra will hold a special rehearsal at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All orchestra members are requested to be present at this practice as it will be the final one for the season.

19-Year-Old Youth Dies in Crash

ELDON, Mo., April 18—(P)—An automobile collision three miles south of here Sunday took the life of Leslie Henson, 19, Osage Beach, Mo.

Highway Patrolman said Jensen was a passenger in an auto that had been driven partially off the highway while a flat tire was being repaired. Troopers said a car driven by Lloyd Snelling, 18, Kaiser, Mo., collided with the parked vehicle.

Two passengers in the Snelling car were injured.

New Skyscraper Boom
NEW YORK—(P)—Construction of new office buildings being completed in New York this year rivals "several of the most fabulous years in the history of skyscrapers," says Lee Thompson Smith of the Home Title Guaranty Co. in the firm's monthly bulletin.

"This year, with 4,208,000 square feet of new office space being placed on the rental market," Smith says, "is way above 1925's 1,474,700 and 1927's 1,185,700. It is just one building away from the 1929 mark of 4,817,000, right on the heels of 1928's 4,362,800, and makes a good showing against 1929's 5,324,900."

He reports that rents in the new buildings range close to $7 per square foot.

Two Legged Lizard Research Subject
ADELAIDE—(P)—Washington University hopes to trace further the evolution of two-legged creatures by a study of Australia's bicycle lizard.

Two staff members of the South Australian museum have gone to Gawler Ranges of South Australia to search for them. Timid and harmless, the lizard when disturbed makes off with the speed of a racehorse, running on its large hind legs.

Tokyo Morals Collapse; Boys Are Kissing Girls

By NEA Service

COLUMBUS, O. — (NEA) — A Tokyo professor, now studying at Ohio State University here beginning to be afraid that there's more to this freedom business than meets the eye. It can be downright immoral.

Japanese boys and girls, Senjiro Hosokawa thinks, are copying behavior patterns from the American GI's on occupation duty. And, he adds politely, there are a few of the boys who are not what he calls perfect examples of propriety. Some of them don't even ask a girl's parents first, when they want a date.

"You people," says the 35-year-old professor at Tokyo Teachers' College, "should be more discreet in your introduction of your way of life. In your eagerness to democratize our country, freedom has been misinterpreted."

The serious-faced Hosokawa fears that pretty soon Japanese marriages will be arranged by the parties involved and the nation's moral structure may suffer other similar signs of breaking down.

"I sometimes feel very sorry for American girls who have to search out their ideal husbands for themselves without the advice of their parents," is the way he expresses it.

"My own marriage was arranged by my teacher." (The Hosokawas have two children, but Hosokawa had no statistics about his teacher's offspring.) "Parents and teachers are more objective in making a marriage."

Among other signs of a moral collapse cited by Hosokawa are co-educational schools and boys and girls mingling in dance halls and at the movies. All in all, it's a very serious thing to a very serious young Japanese.

Perhaps the worst thing the Americans brought to Japan—excluding the atom bomb, or course—was the kiss. It seems that each GI brought his private osculatory Marshall Plan with him to Japan. Before the war, kissing was a shocking thing in Japan.

Now, there's a different kind of shock in a Nipponese kiss.

Fire Destroys Trailer And Some Contents

Fire practically destroyed a large trailer and more than half of its load of canned ripe olives about 10:30 o'clock, Monday night, on Highway 50, about five miles west of Sedalia. The losses will run into several thousands of dollars, it was reported.

Ray Jones, Alvin, Texas, driver of the tractor for the Levertown and Co., Houston, Texas, reported there was no fire when he left the trailer and tractor parked along the highway while he came into Sedalia to obtain two new tires to replace those which blew out on the right rear wheels. Jones reported he was enroute to St. Paul, Minn., and Chicago with his load, and when passing through Dresden, the tires on that side blew out.

Tires Got Hot
He was unable to come to an immediate stop and it was believed the tires became so hot that they burst into flames a few minutes after Jones was picked up by a passing motorist and brought into Sedalia. He purchased two new tires from Montgomery Ward's Co., and was returning to his outfit when he saw the fire.

Tarpaulin Burns
While he was gone, a tarpaulin caught fire, burned off of the top of the trailer, dropped down and set fire to the rear of the trailer. Particles of the burning canvas dropped onto the cardboard boxes in which the canned olives were encased and set them on fire.

Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson, and their three children, of the Reine Dairy farm, route 5, Sedalia, stopped at the fire and with the aid of another motorist succeeded in uncoupling the tractor from the trailer and drove it to a safe distance from the fire.

A newspaper reporter who arrived on the scene used a fire extinguisher to darken the fire around the gasoline tank of the tractor while the others went to work in getting it uncoupled. Within a short time other motorists arriving at the scene unloaded fifty or more cases of olives and tossed a large number of other cases which were scorched or burning, into a ditch.

Sheriff John Taylor and State Highway Patrolman Pete Stohr went to the scene to make an investigation.

Jones, who remained at the scene throughout the night, expressed his appreciation of the efforts of the sheriff and the highway patrol. During the night Trooper Stohr returned to Sedalia and on his return to the scene took hot coffee and sandwiches to Jones. "I have never had much contact with highway patrolmen, but if this fellow is an example of the Missouri Patrol, they are sure a swell bunch of fellows," Jones said.

The loss to the trailer was said to have been more than $2,000 and to the merchandise more than $1,500.

Cooperation in Census Work

Many Sedalians displayed cooperation, Monday, in informing Edw. S. Behn, Sedalia crew leader of the census, they had not been contacted as yet by an enumerator. He is still desiring others who failed to reach him Monday night to call his home anytime between 6:30 o'clock until 9:00 o'clock at night tonight, Thursday and Friday.

Monday night Mr. Behn reported receiving 42 calls, which indicated there are many who have not been at home at the time the enumerator called. Having received so many calls Monday night, Mr. Behn indicated there may have been a large number of persons who were unable to contact him due to a "busy line."

To be counted in the Sedalia population census, those who have not been contacted should notify Mr. Behn and an enumerator will be sent to the residence at the convenience of the party calling.

Personals

Mrs. Grace Bayley, of Los Angeles, Calif., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Bentley and Mr. Bentley, 917 West Fifth street, left Sunday to sail on "The Queen Mary" for a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Fred Wertz, 1425 1/2 South Limit avenue, returned home today from East Liverpool, Ohio, where she visited her son, Richard Wertz and family, and her granddaughter Karen Maria, who was born on April 9.

The car with the Hawaiian license plate, seen on Sedalia's streets belongs to Robert F. Steed, who with his wife and two sons, Robert, Jr., and Theodore, are visiting his brother, Oliver R. Steed and Mrs. Steed, 820 West Seventh street. The latter has not seen his brother for eight years. The Robert Steeds are machinist and registered nurse respectively. They have been living in Hawaii and later Palmyra Island in the Pacific. Now back in the states the Steeds want to stay in America, particularly Missouri and more particularly Sedalia if they can find location here.

Mrs. Embree Baldwin, of Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, returned home Saturday night after spending several days here. Mrs. Baldwin visited in Jefferson City, Columbia and Booneville and while in Booneville attended the military ball held at the Kemper Military academy on April 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Loeffler, Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Loeffler, Lees Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Belsha, Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. James Buckner, Jefferson City; Mrs. Ralph Mudd, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schupp, Ottumwa; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Berkey, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. H. Near Bombing In Love Affair

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(AP)—A suicide watch was placed on John N. Grant today as police for the near-bombing of a plane carrying 16 persons, including his wife and two children.

Grant, 32, was placed under strict guard after it was found he had torn strips of cloth from his jailcell mattress in an attempt to make a noose, Detective Jack Guldstone said.

The young father, who police say lost his nerve just as the alleged plot was about to come off, was linked with a pretty red haired airline stewardess in a striking similarity to the Canadian plane explosion case which brought a murder conviction to J. Albert Guay recently.

Police Lt. C. E. Ream said that Miss Betty Suonela of Hermosa Beach told him that she was in love with John Henry Grant, 32, and that at the approximate time yesterday that he placed the bomb on an United Air Lines DC-3, she thought he was appearing in court getting a divorce from his wife.

The stewardess, who is not employed by United, told Ream that Grant told her to believe that he would marry her after the divorce. Grant questioned the stewardess after Grant drove her car to the airport.

Ex-Sedalian To Jamboree

J. W. Kinney, of Excelsior Springs, formerly of Sedalia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Kinney, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kinney, 607 West Sixteenth street and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ditton, 403 North Hurley avenue, have been selected to represent Boy Scout Troop, No. 261, of Excelsior Springs at the Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge, N. Y. this summer.

J. W., who is 14 years old, was born in Sedalia and lived here until he was eight years old, when his father, then manager of the meat department of the Sedalia A and P store was transferred to Excelsior Springs as manager of the meat department of an A and P store there.

The announcement of the selection of young Kinney was made during the troop court of honor and he was chosen from three outstanding boys of his troop for the honor.

The same night at the court of honor J. W. received merit badges for poultry keeping, pioneering, carpentry, masonry, cooking, salesmanship, cement work and farm mechanics.

He is a sophomore in Excelsior Springs high school.

New Mayor in Office at An Early Hour

The mayor's office, the new mayor of Sedalia said, "I feel this office is here for the benefit of the citizens of Sedalia, and I am here to serve these citizens to the best of my ability."

"Every phase of the city operation and all expenditures of public funds will be discussed with all councilmen, prior to the time the decisions are made. I intend to be fair in all of my opinions and will welcome suggestions for the betterment of Sedalia from the councilmen and from the citizens of Sedalia. We are all a part of the team, and now is the time to encourage this team to function."

Note Progress In Strike Talk

DETROIT, April 18.—(AP)—Peace talks in the Chrysler pension strike were still tangled up in technicalities today but progress was noted.

A series of union concessions on subordinate points came out of 15 hours of talks as negotiators worked into the owl hours for a second time within five days.

Talks were adjourned at 2:30 a.m. (EST) and were to resume at an unstated hour later.

Annual Banquet Held By Teachers

The annual Community Teachers banquet was held in the Ambassador room of the Bothwell hotel at 6:30 o'clock Monday night. The president, Mrs. Roy Spears, called the meeting to order and P. A. Sillers gave the invocation. A chicken dinner was served at the banquet, which was followed by group singing.

The first number on the program was the Men's Choral club quartet composed of Al Oomini-que, Dean Binderup, Ad Taylor and Charles Maggard.

The next selections were duo piano numbers by Miss Jerry Tufel and Mrs. Duane Ewing. Dr. Heber U. Hunt then introduced the school board and their wives who were guests of the evening.

A report on the nominations of the officers for the next year was given. These are: President, Forrest Drake; Vice-President, Nellie White; and Secretary, Mrs. Ida Lee.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mrs. Lloyd White of Kansas City, noted humorist, who gave a talk and illustration of "The Philosophy of Hats."

The banquet was carried out on a "spring" theme and decorations were spring flowers with exception of favor cups which were in the shape of hats to go with the speech of the evening.

Dies of Burns

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 18—(P)—An 18-year-old Mansfield, Mo., girl died in a hospital here Monday of burns suffered April 3 when a gasoline iron overflowed and flared.

She was Miss Elveta Plaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Plaster. Burns covered 70 per cent of her body, doctors said.

The girl was ironing a dress before going to school the morning of April 3 when the accident occurred. The burning gasoline ignited a housecoat she was wearing. She ran to a pond near the house and jumped in to extinguish the flames.

Crocodile snares are weighted to pull the animal under water, where it drowns.

Major Leagues Open Their Seasons Today

Seven Of Games In The Big Leagues To Be By Daylight

NEW YORK, April 18—(P)—Big league baseball opens its diamond jubilee season today with games in eight cities.

Crowds totalling 260,000 are expected to witness the inaugurals, with the largest gathering of 60,000 turning out for the Cleveland-Detroit contest at Cleveland.

President Truman, true to tradition, will throw out the first ball at Washington, where the Nationals open against the Philadelphia Athletics led by venerable Connie Mack.

Seven games are scheduled in daylight. The eighth, a novelty number, matches the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates under the lights at St. Louis.

By vote of the nation's sports-writers, the Brooklyn Dodgers are top-heavy favorites to repeat for the championship of the National League; the Boston Red Sox to succeed the New York Yankees for the American league crown.

Top Notchers Get Going
The game's two highest-salaried stars, Ted Williams of the Red Sox ($125,000) and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees ($100,000) will display their wares in the opener at Boston's Fenway park.

It will mark only the sixth time since he joined the Yankees in 1936 that DiMaggio, the famed "climber," has conquered illness and injury to appear in his team's first game. He has looked great this spring.

Prospects are for a bumper crop of debates between umpires and managers as the season progresses and the men in blue call the new one-second balk rule written into the book during the winter.

The rule, which requires the pitcher to pause a full second before delivering when men are on base, has proved a terrific headache to the flingers in spring games. They insist, bitterly, that it is only another effort to help the offense and hamstringing the poor pitcher.

Following is the opening schedule:
AMERICAN LEAGUE
Philadelphia at Washington.
St. Louis at Chicago.
Detroit at Cleveland.
New York at Boston.
NATIONAL LEAGUE
Boston at New York.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Cincinnati.
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night).

Staley on Mound For Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, April 18—(P)—An assist from the weather man—that's the baseball prayer in St. Louis today.

If the weatherman comes through, approximately 30,000 fans are expected to watch the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates play the first night major league baseball opener in the history of the sport tonight.

The official forecast is for a low of 50 degrees. That's a warning thought for a fan who hasn't seen a baseball game since the cold set in last fall.

Scheduled to pitch for the Cards is Gerald Staley. Pittsburgh plans to use Bob Chesnes. Both are righthanders. The game in Sportsman's Park will start at 8:30 p. m. (CST).

Probable starting lineups:
Pittsburgh: St. Louis:
Beard, P. Schoendienst, 2b.
Hopp, 1b. Muesel, 1b.
Kiner, 1b. Slattery, 1b.
Fertiz, 2b. Slattery, 1b.
Wallace, cf. Kaskaz, 3b.
Murtaugh, 2b. Nelson, 1b.
Rojas, 3b. Garcia, 1b.
Fernandez, 3b. Miller, 1b.

American Association Opens 1950 Baseball

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18—(P)—The American Association opens its 49th baseball season today with the same eight cities in the cast that started in the inaugural year of 1902.

And the prevailing feeling of optimism was expressed by league president Bruce Dudley, who said "any way you look at it, this should be our best year."

Dudley based his forecast for the best brand of ball since before the war on observations made in the spring training camps.

Today's openers, with probable pitchers:
Indianapolis (Muir) at Columbus (Haddix) 8 p. m.
Louisville (Griffith) at Toledo (Marlowe) 3 p. m.
Minneapolis (Kubala) at Milwaukee (Martin) 2:20 p. m.
St. Paul (Taylor) at Kansas City (Madison) 2:30 p. m.

The time in each instance is the prevailing time in the host city. St. Paul won the pennant last year, but Indianapolis, which finished in second place, went on to win the Shaughnessy playoff and the little world series against Montreal of the International League.

Visiting clubs today have home openers next Monday and Tuesday.

Truman Performs Opening Honors

By Joe Ives

WASHINGTON, April 18—(P)—Baseball's best known part-time pitcher, who used to be an umpire, officially opens the 1950 major league season today.

It's the fifth appearance for President Harry Truman—the seventh chief executive to perform opening honors. Invited to sit in the presidential box with the President, Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret, were some old family friends from Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Harry Jobe, and Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson of New York City. Davidson manages Margaret's singing concerts.

The opening game, between the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics, also cut into congressional activities. Capitol Hill leaders doubted they would have enough lawmakers on hand to do much business.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington club said that not many of the presidents who have been tossing out the first ball ever since the days of William Howard Taft were what you might call pitchers.

"But that doesn't go for President Truman," he said. Looking at a picture of the 1949 opener on his wall, Griffith said:

"For an umpire that fellow is a pretty good pitcher. Mr. Truman, you know, was an umpire in Missouri. He told me the kids in his hometown wouldn't let him play with the club because he wore glasses. . . . So he went behind the plate."

Sedalia Cubs' Manager on Business Trip in Oklahoma
Jack Alpert, 506 West Fourth street, manager of the Sedalia Cubs, left today for Bartlesville, Okla., on a business trip. He plans to stay in Oklahoma about 10 days. While he is gone, Cliff Barr will be in charge of the local baseball team.

REIGNING BAT BOY—Team mascot Queenie gets off to an early lead in Phoenix, Ariz., training camp of the Giants, assuming complete charge of bats, gloves and catching paraphernalia. The bat boy undoubtedly will be in control when the team hits the New York Polo Grounds, but over the protests of the cocker spaniel.

Red Wings vs. Rangers in Hockey Tilt

Both Teams Fight For The Stanley Cup Championships

DETROIT, April 18—(P)—Anxious to wind it up fast, the Detroit Red Wings take another whack at the New York Rangers here tonight in the Stanley cup championship series.

The league champion Wings, enjoying a 2-1 edge, are strong favorites to make it three in a row and get a good grip on the prize mug.

A crowd of 13,000 to 14,000 is expected. Despite the distractions of the new baseball season, the motor city still is hot over hockey. A third in a row for Detroit would put New York in a desperate situation. All the remaining games of the best-of-seven series will be played here.

Donkey Baseball Here April 28

The Northeast Athletic club will sponsor a donkey ball game, which will be played under the lights at Housel Park, Friday night, April 28, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

This will make the third annual year for this event, at which time thrills and spills are a plenty, when the Sedalia merchants endeavor to ride the donkeys and at the same time, try to score runs for their respective team.

The donkeys are owned by Glen Jones, who has his own lighting system and equipment to help stage real entertainment for the fans.

The funds realized from this game will be used to buy equipment for the boys' ball club, such as bats and balls and other baseball equipment.

The Northeast Athletic club is sponsoring two teen-age baseball teams this year. Tickets for the donkey baseball game are now on sale by any member of the Northeast Athletic club.

K. of C. Softball Team To Practice Wednesday

The Knights of Columbus softball team will again take the field in Sedalia, and will undoubtedly play many home games, since the new softball diamond at Sixteenth street and Center avenue, will be equipped with flood lights for playing night ball.

The team will be managed by H. A. Bundy, and will hold its first practice session Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Smith-Cotton diamond. All softball players interested in playing ball, should be present at the first workout.

The Knights have again entered the Tri-County League. A committee has been appointed to take charge of the aggregation, and the officials in charge anticipate a great year for the local softball team.

Probable Pitchers

Today's opening day schedule of the major leagues, probable pitchers with last year's records, probable attendance, and expected weather:

National League
Boston at New York—Spahn (12-14) vs. Jansen (15-16) (30,000) partly cloudy. Temperature 67.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia—Newcombe (17-8) vs. Roberts (15-15) (32,000). Partly cloudy. Near 70.
Chicago at Cincinnati—Schmitz (11-13) vs. Rafenberger (18-17) (32,000). Cloudy, 63.
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night)—Chesnes (7-13) vs. Staley (10-10) (32,000). Partly cloudy. Near 50.
American League
New York at Boston—Reynolds (17-6) vs. Parnell (25-8) (32,000). Fair, 64.
St. Louis at Chicago—Garver (12-17) vs. Wright (15-13) (18,000). Risk of showers. Near 70.
Detroit at Cleveland—Routman (15-10) vs. Hutchinson (15-7) vs. Lemon (22-17) (33,000). Partly cloudy, 68.
Philadelphia at Washington—Scheig (9-12) vs. Scarborough (15-11) (30,000). Partly cloudy, 71.

The first international passenger airport in the United States is said to be one which began operating at Key West, Fla., in 1927.

WINNING CAPTAIN—M. Darling, of Edmonton, holds the championship trophy after the Canadian ice hockey team beat Sweden in the world title final at Wembley, London.

BANGS AND BAIT—Marilyn Hallet, 14, of La Grange, Ill., is holding a new real shiner minnow, now encased in plastic. The bait comes in three sizes, can be used for casting, spinning or trolling. With side fins it's a spinner, with bent tail a wobler.

STRIKE—OR BALL—Umpire Bill Stewart protests against Electronic Umpire in Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training camp. The National League arbitrator was a bit off the beam, as device which measures speed of pitch as well as calling balls and strikes, proved somewhat ineffective and requires adjustment. A system of lens, mirrors and electronic equipment light a lamp when pitch goes through strike zone. Balls do not register.

Golden Glove Bouts In Chicago Tonight

CHICAGO, April 18—(P)—Europe's amateur boxing champions try to crack Chicago's monopoly of team titles in the 13th international golden glove bouts at Chicago stadium before an expected crowd of 14,000.

Since the series started in 1931, Chicago's representatives, which this year are the best from a 38-state area, have won seven times. They had to come from behind to win 5-3 in 1949.

The invaders have triumphed only once, but have fought Chicago to a standstill four times, the latest being a 4-4 tie in 1948. The 1950 squad, made up of the best fighters from Denmark, Finland, Italy, France and Ireland, is regarded as one of the strongest to compete.

Mat Action This Wednesday Night

Sonny Meyers of St. Joseph, Mo., will enter the wrestling ring again Lee Henning, Buffalo, N. Y. in the main event Wednesday night at the National Guard armory under auspices of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

Meyers, a well known mat man in this area has been "itching" to get into a battle with Henning for sometime in the Sedalia ring. Meyers, having won last week and Henning, being the victor in his match, brought the two together for this week.

The St. Joseph wrestler has developed into one of the best heavyweights of the midwest and Henning is considered by many a fan as the toughest to invade the midwest.

Coming back to Sedalia for the semi-windup match is one of the most hated of the villain group, Roy "Cowboy" Graham of Dallas, Texas, who is slated to clash with Mayes McLain of Lawrence, Kas. McLain is a newcomer to the local ring and will be a good competitor for the cowboy from Texas.

Opening the event of the wrestling entertainment at 8:30 o'clock will be a match between Ellis Bashara of Houston, Tex. and Walter Sirois, Montreal, Canada.

Jack Hader of Kansas City will be the third man in the ring.

Practice For Sedalia Cubs to be Thursday

The Sedalia Cubs, newly organized semi-pro baseball team, will hold their regular practice Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock in place of the usual practice time Wednesday evening of this week.

Pet Alligators Got Too Big For Their Homes

PHILADELPHIA, April 18—(P)—Ed Weinhold and his two pet alligators have come to a parting of the ways—there just wasn't room enough in Ed's house. Weinhold, who lives at Reading, Pa., bought the gators 27 years ago at Jacksonville, Fla.

The pets, then only a foot long each, were named Joe and Josie. Everything was fine for the first 10 years or so. But Joe and Josie continued to expand while Weinhold's house stayed the same size.

The other day, Weinhold took a good look at his alligators—Joe measured six feet and Josie six feet, six inches. Then he got in touch with the Philadelphia zoo.

It may take Ed a little time to get used to all that extra room.

Athletic Banquet at S-H This Evening

The Sacred Heart high school will hold its third annual athletic banquet this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria room.

Rev. A. J. Brunswick, superintendent, will present the athletic awards in basketball, and volleyball.

Over 40 high school students will be present for the occasion. Rev. Anthony Migoni, athletic director, will preside and introduce the guests. Palmer Nichols, basketball coach, will give the response.

Lead Changes Hands In ABC Tournament

COLUMBUS, O., April 18—(P)—Fourteen changes in the positions of leading scorers featured the third day of the ABC bowling tournament here yesterday.

In the singles division, Michael Liberati of Binghamton, N.Y., and Walter Thoren of Brooklyn each rolled 677, to tie for second place. First place still is held by John Strobel of Milwaukee, Wis., who scored 679 points Sunday.

Jerome Koscycki of Buffalo, N. Y., mauled the Maples for 669 points yesterday to land in third place in this division, shoving Bob Duncan of Toronto, Can., 658, into fourth place.

Hubbard Boys Work Out for Baseball Team

22 Players Have Been Working Out For Past 2 Weeks

The rainy weather took a punch at the Hubbard Tigers baseball hopefuls Monday, stopping practice as the team finally began to show some signs of shaping into a nice high school ball club.

Twenty-two members of the high school have been trying out at the various positions for the past two weeks, with the weather being the main drawback in molding the team into a unit.

This marks the first time in a number of years that Hubbard will field a team to represent the school. The possibility of scheduling games during the last few weeks of school makes a schedule of around eight games to be played, weather permitting.

Baseball Players
The club shows talent in catching with Whitney, Gray, Grant and Johnson. The pitching gives outlook to be strong with Herndon, Mason, Buckner and Boggs.

Florida Has New Underwater Boom; Shrimp

Biggest Fishermen's Bonanza in Years Brings New Prosperity to Key West; Electronics Get Credit

By NEA Service

KEY WEST, Fla.—The discovery of rich, new shrimp grounds off the southern tip of Florida has turned into the biggest fishermen's bonanza in years.

In what amounts to a shrimp "gold rush," virtually the nation's entire shrimping fleet—300 to 400 boats—has stampeded to the area from Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, the Carolinas and points as far distant as New Jersey.

Fishermen say it's the greatest shrimp flotilla ever assembled in American waters. So great has been the migration that old-established grounds throughout the South Atlantic region have been virtually deserted.

The abundance of shrimp and the magic of electronic "fish-finders" are enabling the fishermen to reap a harvest of 200,000 to 250,000 pounds a week. The average boat, with crew of three to five, is catching between $500 and $800 worth of shrimp a week.

FISH-FINDER: Depth recorder gives Capt. Grady Weaver chart of ocean bottom off Florida.

The shrimp, a large, pink variety known as Brazilian Imperials, are mostly in the coral-studded waters around Dry Tortugas, a group of tiny islands about 60 miles west of President Truman's winter vacation spot.

Electronic "fish-finders," which actually are ultrasonic depth recorders developed by Bendix Aviation Corporation during wartime, not only warn fishermen of the treacherous coral reefs which rip their $350 nets to pieces, but also show them the precise location of the mud bottoms where the shrimp live.

Fishery authorities say this reliance upon scientific methods will enable fishermen to get the most out of the new grounds and also will permit still untapped grounds to be explored. It is believed that equally productive areas lie to the north of the grounds now being fished.

Discovery of the new grounds and the influx of fishermen—many with their families—have brought unexpected prosperity to Key West and other cities on Florida's west coast. Docks as far north as Tampa are jammed. The greatest activity, though, is centered at the University of Miami marine laboratory, says the new plant is rushing plans to double its output. So much ice is needed to pack the shrimp for shipment to big eastern markets the additional supplies are being trucked in from Miami.

The new discovery is no flash harvest. In one plant alone, 200

women have been put to work

"heading" the shrimp as they are unloaded from boats.

The city's only ice-producing plant is rushing plans to double its output. So much ice is needed to pack the shrimp for shipment to

big eastern markets the additional supplies are being trucked in from Miami.

of playing out. It also came in what is normally an off-season period for shrimpers. Eastern markets are now being supplied almost entirely from the new grounds.

Before the new Florida strike, the nation's largest shrimp grounds were in the Gulf of Mexico off

Louisiana, where an enormous field was discovered in 1937.
